WAKE COUNTY GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC (WCGS) was organized in April 1982 to promote genealogical study and research, to serve as a medium of exchange of genealogical or historical information, to encourage the preservation of genealogical or historical records, to provide cultural, educational, and social opportunities involving genealogy. In 1983 WCGS was incorporated as a non-profit organization under the laws of the State of North Carolina.

MEMBERSHIP: Membership is open to anyone with an interest in the purposes of WCGS as stated above. The membership year is from January 1 through December 31. Annual dues for new members are $20.00 for individuals and institutions and $25.00 for families (two people, related by blood or marriage residing at the same address). A former charter member can rejoin for a fee of $15.00 - a one-time option.

MEETINGS: WCGS meets on the fourth Tuesday of each month except in June, July, August, and December. Meetings begin at 7:00 PM and visitors are welcomed. The current meeting place is Westover United Methodist Church, 300 Powell Dr, Raleigh, NC.

CORRESPONDENCE: All correspondence should be sent to WCGS, PO Box 17713, Raleigh, NC 27619-7713. For a fee of $5.00, you may request up to one hour of research by the "Please Help Me" Committee.

CHANGE OF ADDRESS: Please notify WCGS of a change of address as soon as it is known so that your journals and other WCGS communications will reach you in a timely manner. There is a $3.00 charge for remailing returned journals. Postage costs for returns have more than doubled since October 1995 and continue to increase in small increments.

WAKE TREASURES is the journal of WCGS and is free to members. One copy is sent for each Family Membership. Bi-annual issues are identified as Winter/Spring, and Summer/Fall.

EDITORIAL POLICY: Emphasis will be on unpublished, primary source documents with historical or genealogical significance for Wake County, NC. Primary source documents from counties from which large numbers of inhabitants migrated into Wake County may be used provided there is no Genealogical or Historical Society serving that county. Articles emphasizing methodology, instructions and "lessons learned" will be welcomed. Manuscripts about Wake County residents, past and present will be accepted. Wake County family cemetery surveys and Bible records will be used as space allows. Articles will reflect a balance regarding time periods and needs of both the novice and the experienced genealogists.

Manuscripts submitted will be judged on style, clarity, consistency, documentation and general appeal to the membership. References used to compile the manuscript must be included. (Send SASE to Editor for guidelines.)

Book reviews will be published for authors or publishers who donate the book to the WCGS library and for publications recommended by members which are pertinent to Wake County or of general genealogical interest. Books are then donated by the society to the Olivia Raney Library.

Neither WCGS nor the Journal Committee shall be held responsible for content, punctuation and/or spelling errors in manuscripts. Such errors are the sole responsibility of the contributor. Documented corrections of content errors, submitted to the Journal Editor, will appear in a later issue.

QUERIES: Members may submit an unlimited number of queries at no additional charge. Queries are accepted from non-members at $2.00 per query. For an extra $5.00, non-members can request a copy of the journal in which their paid queries were included. It is helpful when queries are submitted on a Wake Treasures Query Form. Queries are subject to editing and will be printed as space permits. Requests for Query Forms (send a SASE) and query submissions should be addressed to Query Editor at the address printed above. You may also xerox the query form in the insert placed in the center of the journal when more than one copy is needed.

PERMISSION TO QUOTE: Permission to reproduce or quote from an article published in any issue of Wake Treasures must be obtained in writing from the author(s). Write to the specific author in care of the WCGS address above.

BACK ISSUES: Past issues of Wake Treasures are sold only in volume sets. Volumes I through V are now available. See insert for price and other details.

A WORD FROM OUR PRESIDENT

By William Morrissey

Every organization, such as our Wake County Genealogical Society, exists through the efforts of its members. As stated in our Bylaws, two of the objectives of the society are "to promote genealogical study and research" and "to encourage the preservation of genealogical historical records." A number of the local members have responded well to the call for volunteers to help get the Olivia Raney Library for genealogy and local history organized in time for the opening in August of this year. Their actions have demonstrated that they believe in the basic tenets of WCGS and are willing to expend their time and effort to back up these convictions. They continue to volunteer to help with the day-to-day operation of the library.

Volunteers and activists such as these members and those who toil to publish our journal and newsletter, conduct seminars, organize monthly programs for our meeting, take care of the mailings, keep records, and answer queries give a lot to all members. A genealogical society, by its very nature, is made up of local members and members who live too far away to actively participate in the society, but have strong genealogical interests and ties to Wake County. Many local members cannot participate actively for personal reasons. The rest of us can help to build an active and healthy society through as little as a couple of hours of participation a month.

I joined this group to meet others who share an interest in genealogy and to learn from them how to be more successful in my efforts. The meetings and publications are great, but I learn the most from one-on-one contacts as I work side by side on various projects with other members. Give a little – take a little. It works.

Be an activist in your society!

Bill Morrissey

MESSAGE FROM THE CO-EDITORS

Harriette & Madlyn

We survived hurricane Fran but all were touched by her with damage great and small. It was/is a massive clean-up. We are grateful for help given to us by other states in clearing roads, restoring electrical and phone services, repairing damage to homes, buildings, and more. Clean-up and repairs still continue. One news statistic stays in mind: Fran felled more than four times as many trees in one night than the entire state harvests annually for commercial purposes.

Harriette's having a time out. She's played with grandchildren in Arizona & California's Disneyland, experienced some Fran-damage, and is relearning the ways of her new computer replete with the latest whistles and bells. The journal staff has been super in pulling this issue together.

New Contributors: President Bill Morrissey tells us how to research while traveling, and Dick Shirk relates his publishing experience. Jerry Lewis continues with a computer lesson even I can follow and do—so can you!

CORRECTION – VOLUME VI, NUMBER 1

Duplicate pages 16-17 and 70-71: The correct page 17 is a loose sheet in this issue for you to attach to the errant page 17 in Volume 1. The queries that should have been on page 71 have been incorporated into queries in this issue. If your loose sheet does not survive mailing, please write – we will send a replacement.

STYLES USED IN ABSTRACTS/TRANSCRIPTIONS

In an attempt to provide consistency throughout Wake Treasures, the Journal Committee has adopted the following styles to be used in all abstracts or transcriptions:

Spelling – retained as found in the original document

surnames – capitalized and bold, even in word-for-word transcriptions

? following a word – letters difficult to read, but it looks like (DUW ?) or there is a second possibility (PANN/PAW ?)

? following a letter in a word – uncertain of the preceding letter (MU?RRY)

... – words, phrases, or sentences omitted from the original

~~word~~ – word, phrase or sentence marked through in original document

Tho__as or Tho__s – letter or letters illegible or missing

_____ – word illegible or missing

[anything in brackets] – comment from abstractor/transcriber

OTHER EXPLANATIONS:

NC Archives – the short form for the Reference Unit of the Division of Archives and History, North Carolina Department of Cultural Resources

CR.099.000/AR 6.0/etc. – the call or stack numbers used by the NC Archives to organize the storage of records

BOOK REVIEW

Submitted by Madlyn Jamison

HARTZELL-PRICE HISTORY AND GENEALOGY. By Norman Sechler. 1996. A deluxe hard cover edition printed on archival paper of over 600 pages. Index: 82 pages. Size 8½" x 11". Price: $62.50 includes postage.

HARTZELL, HERTZEL, HIRZEL, HARTZEL HARTSEL, HARTSELL, HARTSELLE are some of the variant spellings of this surname. This genealogy traces the descendants of Hans Georg HERTZEL, a Swiss emigrant who came to American in 1727 with his family. The main focus is his youngest son, Johann Leonhardt HIRTZEL, who with his wife Ester LIPE, became the progenitor of the North Carolina HARTSELLs. The book covers 412 years from Jacob HIRZEL, in Switzerland, to his descendants in Germany, Pennsylvania, North Carolina, Colorado, Alabama, and other states. Permission was granted by Charles Henry Frederick Price, Jr., deceased, author of the original HARTZELL genealogy bearing the same title, now out of print, to Norman Sechler to print all or any part of his book in this new edition along with Sechler's personal research.

NGS CONSUMER PROTECTION COMMITTEE UPDATE

Submitted by Madlyn Jamison

National Geographic Society Newsletter, Vol. 22, No. 5 (September/October 1996): 128-129

Permission granted by NGS to reprint this Update.

Dozens of NGS members have written to ask whether Halbert's is violating a US Postal Service Cease and Desist Order by continuing to solicit orders for its World Book Series. Others have asked about the meeting that representatives of the NGS Consumer Protection Committee held with a delegation from Halbert's, Inc. Here's an update!

On 21 November 1995 the US Postal Service and Halbert's signed a consent agreement under which Halbert's agree to cease and desist from, among other things, falsely representing "...that (1) a solicitation for a surname-related product was sent by a relative of the solicitee; (2) A relative of the solicitee was involved in preparing a surname-related publication; or that (3) a relative of a solicitee endorses a surname-related product." The prohibitions of the 1988 cease and desist order were to remain in effect.

The Postal Service did not consult with NGS about whether its cease and desist order responded adequately to the complaints we made about Halbert's misleading advertising nor did the Postal Service inform NGS when the order was signed. We learned about it early in the new year when Halbert's initiated a new solicitation letter.

In January 1996, Halbert's ceased using letters signed by a so-called director when it solicited orders for its World Book; instead the letters were signed by Sharon Taylor or William Foreman. The letters were revised to eliminate the chummy, folksy language that formerly had suggested a relationship between the person who had supposedly directed the project to the addressee, both of whom had the same surname. The package included a revised order form with a disclaimer that "No direct genealogical connection to your family or ancestry is implied or intended."

The issue is whether the US Postal Service is properly enforcing the 1988 cease and desist order by allowing Halbert's to continue to send letters that appear to violate it directly.

On 10-11 May 1996 representatives of Halbert's registered for the NGS Conference in Nashville and attended the banquet during which Consumer Protection Chair Helen Hinchliff gave a talk entitled "Scams, Suckers, and Megabucks: the Shady, Shake Side of Genealogy." Among other things she addressed the subject of Halbert's sale of phony coats of arms. The following morning NGS representatives met with a delegation from Halbert's, at the latter's request.

The purpose of the meeting from Halbert's point of view was to inform us that they were making efforts to publish materials that would be useful to genealogists. The purpose of the meeting from the NGS point of view was to discuss our continuing concerns with Halbert's products and advertising. Mr. Ludwick A Huck, Halbert's newly appointed Vice Chairman and General Manager, chaired his delegation and Mr. Curt B. Witcher, then NGS First Vice President, and Manager of the Genealogical Library of Allen County (Fort Wayne), Indiana, chaired the NGS delegation.

Mr. Huck informed NGS that (1) Halbert's is considering dropping the promotion and sale of coats of arms, a practice that NGS has long shown as deceptive and false; (2) Halbert's has appointed an Advisory board whose purpose is to provide advise on how to gain the approval of the genealogical community; (3) the firm has plans to bring out additional product; (4) its representatives believe their products are useful for genealogists and they are proud of them.

The NGS delegation (1) expressed gratification that Halbert's is considering the elimination of coats of arms and gave additional examples of the falseness and deception involved in the promotion and sale of coats of arms for surnames, (2) held that Halbert's advertising materials continue to misrepresent and to mislead the public, and (3) argued that their products are not as useful to genealogists as they claim.

Mr. Witcher repeatedly asked, why, if Halbert's is so proud of its products, do they not describe them accurately in their promotional materials. Mr. Huck invited NGS to provide detailed analysis of the ways in which its promotional materials mislead the public.

On 24 June 1996, the NGS Consumer Protection Committee prepared the first of several proposed analyses, showing line by line the many ways in which Halbert's new World Book Solicitation letter falsely represents the contents of the World Book and appears in several ways to violate the 1988 Consent Agreement. We directed this analysis to Mr. Ludwig Huck and to the members of Halbert's Board. We sent a copy to Mr. Daniel Bryant, Consumer Protection Lawyer, US Postal Service. In the same packages, we sent a compilation of 30 complaints and queries that NGS members and other interested parties had submitted to the Committee about the new solicitation letter. Since then, over a dozen new complaints and queries have come in.

Please lighten the burden of the Committee!

If you feel strongly that Halbert's letters are misleading and deceptive, you should be writing your letters to Mr. Huck, to the members of his Advisory Board, and to the Postal Service. Here are their addresses:

FORMATTING VERSUS DATA ENTRY

By Jerry J. Lewis

When publishing, the most time-consuming and frustrating task genealogists typically face is formatting the document. Consider abstracting a tax list consisting of 500 rows and 5 columns with WordPerfect but not using the table feature. Unfortunately, it takes two lines to print each taxpayer. Therefore, the tax list is twice the length expected (increasing your publishing costs) and making the result difficult to read. There are several unpalatable options. After long consideration, the only workable option is to remove a seldom-used column. However, that requires deleting its values from all 600 rows, and that is significant work. If the data were separate from the formatting, the entire job would be completed within minutes costing only a few keystrokes.

This article describes the advantages of keeping data separate from reporting. However, this is a database management concept, and few genealogists are prepared for a sophisticated topic like database management. However, since most word processors provide some very simplistic database management features and many genealogists use WordPerfect, I will use the merge feature of WordPerfect to illustrate these principles. The same principles apply to Microsoft Word, other word processors and database management programs like Foxpro, Access, Oracle, SQL Server, DB/2, etc. Still, do not assume that word processors are true database programs simply because they provide one database-like feature. In the example, I will describe what to do rather than the specific keystrokes and mouse clicks since that depends on the software product and version.

Definitions

In the tax list, each person might have a Surname, Given Name, Acreage, Tax Paid, and Comments. Each of these elements are called fields. One or more distinct fields comprise a record. In your tax list, a record corresponds to all the information about one Taxpayer. Records usually appear as a row in a document.

An Exercise

This exercise illustrates separating data from its format. Even if you do not have WordPerfect, follow these steps and find out how to do the same thing using your word processor.

Start by building a data file. I have included my data file for your reference. Make yours like the same. Also, I have described the steps for creating this data file with my version of WordPerfect.

1. Create a merge format file by:
 - a. Selecting "New" from the File" menu.
 - b. Clicking on the "Merge" button to see the Merge tool bar.
2. Define the fields present in your data by:
 - a. Clicking on the button labeled "Other" and selecting "Define Names."
 - b. Typing FirstName, Acreage, Taxpaid, and Comments on separate lines.
 - c. Clicking the "End of Record" button.

3. Enter the data by:
 - a. Typing each field of the data as I have done below, starting with "Lewis."
 - b. Pressing the "End of Field" button after each field is typed. Note that a carriage return will be automatically inserted, so do not hit the ENTER (or RETURN) key.
 4. Save this file by:
 - a. Selecting SAVE from the file menu and naming it MDATA.
 - b. Quitting the file.

<Define Names>LastName
FirstName
Acreage
TaxPaid
Comments
<End of Record>
Lewis<End of Field>
Jerry<End of Field>
100<End of Field>
100<End of Field>
is a very nice man<End of Field>
<End of Record>
Washington<End of Field>
George<End of Field>
150<End of Field>
250<End of Field>
was the father of our country<End of Field>
<End of Record>

Sample Data File

<Field:LastName>
<Field:FirstName>
<Field:Acreage>
<Field:TaxPaid>
<Field:Comments>
Sample Format File

Now, make a file that specifies the format.

1. Create a merge format file by:
 - a. Selecting "NEW" from the file menu
 - b. Clicking on the Merge button so you can see the Merge toolbar.
2. Place the fields at their described location by:
 - a. Clicking on the Field button.
 - b. Clicking on the circle to the left of the Field button.
 - c. Clicking on the Get Field Names button.
 - d. Selecting the data file, MDATA.
 - e. Clicking on the button with a small, downward pointing triangle on it. This button is on the far right of "Field Name." Click on it and hold the mouse button down. This displays the names of the fields that are available (because you defined them when building the data file). Specifically, LastName, FirstName, Acreage, TaxPaid, and Comments. Select LastName.
 - f. Pressing the ENTER or RETURN key.
 - g. Repeating step 5 except select FirstName.
 - h. Pressing the ENTER or RETURN key.
 - i. Repeating step 5 except select Acreage.
 - j. Pressing the ENTER or RETURN key.
 - k. Repeating step 5 except select TaxPaid.
 - l. Pressing the ENTER or RETURN key.
 - m. Repeating step 5 except select Comments.

3. Save the file by:
 - a. Selecting SAVE from the FILE menu and enter the file name, MFORM.
 - b. Quitting this file.

Now the data and format files are complete. WordPerfect will do the dirty work.

1. Click the Merge button.
2. WordPerfect prompts for the name of the format file. Enter MFORM.
3. WordPerfect prompts for the name of the data file. Enter MDATA.
4. Now WordPerfect has all the information it needs. It builds a WordPerfect document that contains the data formatted as the format file specifies. When completed, WordPerfect displays a document that consists of the merged data and format.

Do not get upset because this is not how a tax list should look. Simply quit the merged file, change your format file, and remerge so your changes are reflected in all the records (try adding a Title such as "Name" followed by <Field:FirstName> <Field:LastName> and remove the <Field:Acreage>. The format is now separate from the data.

Other Applications

Notice that Merge, sometimes called Mail Merge, is how form letters are prepared for mass mailings. For example, "Jerry Lewis of Raleigh, NC is a finalist for the $1 million prize!" (Yeah, right!) Likewise, you can print mailing labels to send to all the members of your local genealogical society using Merge. Also, send everyone a "personalized" letter. But wait! There's more!

There is no reason your merge fields have to be small. They can be paragraphs, chapters, books, etc. For example, many people ask how I manage my genealogy data. The answer is Merge. Sure, I want a "chronological sketch" and "evidence" in my genealogy. They are simply fiends in my data file that are several paragraphs long. The fields I current have defined are:

- | | | | | |
|-------------|--------------|--------------|-------------|---------|
| • Person | • Connection | • Sketch | • Evidence | • Deeds |
| • Birthdate | • Spouses | • Land | • Willis | • Other |
| • Deathdate | • Children | • Activities | • Marriages | • To Do |
| • Counties | • Parents | • Notes | • Census | |

I use one data file for each surname. Sure, I use genealogy software, but a word processor with Merge allows me greater formatting flexibility. I am not limited by genealogy software. Of course, remember that I started in genealogy before the availability of the more sophisticated packages that are now available. The main feature of the genealogy software that I use is the charting feature, and I do not use that often. I never exchange GEDCOM files with others.

The journal your local society publishes is simply a series of articles, so each article can be a Merge record. The journal has the following logical organization:

1. Outside front cover
2. Inside front cover
3. Table of Contents
4. Articles
5. Index
6. Inside back cover
7. Outside back cover

The articles are formed simply by merging an Article format file with an Article data file. The format file:

1. Sets margins for the journal.
2. Sets preferred front for the journal.
3. Sets headers and footers that remain the same throughout the journal.
4. Includes the field to be included by the placement of <Field:Articles>.

Then each contributor to the journal submits their articles as a data file with the following format:

<Define Name>Articles
<End of Record>
This is my sample article. It is short and sweet, but it could be much, much longer than what it actually is.

This is my second paragraph of my article for the journal.

The article continues until I press the “End of Field” button. <End of Field>

Sample Article data file

Finally, do not overlook the SORT feature of WordPerfect. This allows reordering the data file.

WordPerfect Considerations

Of course, there are complications with using Merge just as with anything. The following considerations are unique to WordPerfect. Other tools will have their issues.

1. In WordPerfect, a hard carriage return (i.e., hit the ENTER or RETURN key) may not precede the <Define Names> command.
2. Do not simply type <Define Names> in bold. Enter this code as you did above using the Merge buttons, menus, etc.
3. Formatting (e.g., set a font, tabs, etc.) before <Define Names> will not take effect in the merged result because it precedes <Define Names>. This formatting is visible only while editing the data file.
4. Formatting that occurs within a field (e.g., in the Sample Article where “second” is underlined) will appear in the merged output. However, even if an individual contributor sets a font that is different from the editor’s preferred font, the editor’s preferred font will be automatically restored in the next article because it is specified in the Article format file.

Other Considerations

Someone will undoubtedly tell me that one or more of the techniques I have described will not work for some reason. Remember, my goal is to introduce a technique that might prove to be useful. Your challenge is to find the best technique for a specific task.

Summary

Keeping data separate from its format has significant benefits. After experimenting with Merge, other benefits and uses become apparent. Finally, these concepts are fundamental for understanding (what is hopefully a future topic) database management.

Happy Merging!

DIVORCE RECORDS, WAKE COUNTY SUPERIOR COURT, 1831-1952 (PART 4)

Abstracted by Jocelyn P. Powell

BEARROW, Josephine vs. D. M. BEARROW

The divorce was granted during Sep term of court 1917 and custody of a daughter was given to the PI. PI stated that she had always been a resident of NC and had resided in Wake Co. for about 15 years; she believed that Def was not at that time a resident of NC. She and Def were married in Raleigh on 24 Dec 1911 and lived together until 25 Dec. 1913. On that date Def abandoned PI and their child, which she was then carrying; she believed that "the said Def took the companionship of an adulteress, whose name is unknown to the PI "A child, Edna May BEARROW, was born of the marriage and would turn 3 in July 1917. Def was not located.

BECKWITH, Elnora vs. William BECKWITH

PI stated that she and Def were married in Wake Co. on 7 Jan 1904 and lived together until some time during the year 1918, when the Def abandoned PI and his children: Alice BECKWITH, 14; Marie BECKWITH, 12; Eva BECKWITH, 10; Howard BECKWITH, 7; Elmira BECKWITH, 6; Beatrice BECKWITH, 3. PI was a resident of Wake Co. all of her life. During the years 1917-1919 Def was alleged to have committed adultery with one Dora PAGE. William BECKWITH lived at 332 Smith St., per summons. PI failed to appear for the hearing and the action was dismissed.

BEDDINGFIELD, Pattie vs. Ernest BEDDINGFIELD, alias Ernest GAY

The marriage was annulled during Feb term 1906, and PI was permitted to resume her maiden name of Pattie MULLINS. PI alleged that she and Def were married in Franklin Co. NC on 4 Jan 1901. PI had resided in NC for more than 2 years prior to the court action. Def separated from PI on 1 Apr 1904 and had not lived with her since. Without a legal divorce, on 2 Oct 1904 in Kinston, NC, Def "was a party to a ceremony of marriage with one Fleeta JOHNSON, and (had) lived with her since that date as his wife." PI had no knowledge of the current residence of her husband. The Register of Deeds of Lenoir Co. confirmed the marriage on 2 Oct 1904 in South West Township, Lenoir Co., by E. P. LOFTIN, JP. Witnesses to the marriage were F. W. SYKES, Nick BAKER, and Chancey BAKER. There is a photograph of Ernest GAY/BEDDINGFIELD in this file.

BEINE, Maude vs. Charles H. BEINE

Petition was dismissed during July term of Superior Court, 1897; it was the Court's opinion that "the complaint does not state facts sufficient to entitle the plaintiff to the relief prayed, even when taken in connection with the reply." PI stated that she and Def were married in Wake Co. on 15 Jan 1889 and had lived in Wake Co. since that time. She indicated that she and Def had not lived happily together and that Def told her shortly after they were married that he married her for the purpose of having her raise daughter by a former marriage; the child was 7 at the time of this marriage. Shortly before the birth of a premature infant, Def got intoxicated and abused PI, and she tried to leave the home and go to her mother's on this rainy December night; she developed serious pulmonary trouble from which she continued to suffer. She begged him to treat her more kindly but he did not change his behavior. She threatened to leave, but he told her she could not take their baby. Later he told her she could go and take the child; however she had no means of support and her health was poor. PI's mother lived with the couple off and on to help out, then continuously after their house was destroyed by fire. Eventually PI left to live with her mother, and the husband would not help with finances. PI indicated that "the Def is a man of considerable property...the tax books show that he lists several houses and lots in the City of Raleigh and lands in the country..." Def denied all allegations except to state that "it is true that PI and Def had slight misunderstandings and controversies..." PI's mother's name given as Mrs. HEDGEPEETH; also had a sister in Georgia named Mrs. GARRETT. The presence of PI's mother in the home was a main bone of contention, according to Def. PI sued for maintenance and support, but this was denied.

BELL, Essie Ira vs. Joris Richmond BELL

Divorce was granted during March term of Superior Court 1920, and child custody given to PI. PI alleged that she had been a resident of Wake Co. for more than 2 years, and Def was a Wake Co. resident also. They were married on 18 July 1916 and lived together until about 1 Mar 1917. PI further alleged that about 1 Mar 1917 "and at various other times thereafter and prior thereto," the Def committed adultery with Eva MULLIN and with other women unknown to PI. Essie Ira and Joris BELL had one child, Jo R. BELL.

BELL, Sallie vs. Henry BELL

Divorce was granted during April court term of court 1904 and custody of child of this marriage granted to PI. stated that she and Def were married on 11 Jun 1899 and that on 21 Apr 1903 the Def abandoned her and had since lived in adultery with one Laura FANN (the name looks like FAUN in some places). Sallie and Henry BELL had one child, Gladys BELL. The following people were summoned to give evidence this case: John D. WATKINS, James PATTERSON, Will PATTERSON, Sam PATTERSON, Thee PERRY, Emily HOLDERFIELD, Amos JONES.

BELL, William R. vs. Eliza BELL alias Florence PATTERSON

The case was dismissed in court on the first day of spring term, 1872; apparently the PI failed to "justify his prosecution bond." PI alleged that sometime in Oct 1861 he and Def, both of Wake Co., were married. They lived together until spring of the year 1865 when Eliza abandoned William BELL and went to Wilmington, NC with a Federal soldier. Eliza assumed the name of Florence PATTERSON after going to Wilmington and "went into a bawdy house and has been living the life of a prostitute ever since."

BIDWELL, Ella J. vs. George H. BIDWELL

This was a very complex case pursued in the courts of three states; North Dakota, Massachusetts, and North Carolina. George BIDWELL was the original PI, suing for divorce from Ella in North Dakota May 1895. He alleged that he had been a resident of ND for 90 days preceding the action and that Def a resident of Springfield, MA (110 Howard St., according to the summons). He was 25 and the Def about 30. On 9 Dec 1890 PI and Def were married near Walhalla, SC. PI was married under the name George Bidwell LUCAS by which he was sometimes known. His true and legal surname was, and always had been, BIDWELL. The couple had two children, Mary Beulah BIDWELL, 4, and Maud A. BIDWELL, 2. PI and Def (in the ND case) lived together until Nov 1893 when PI left Def. He alleged that she treated him with extreme cruelty, had a violent temper, and accused him of "doing various and divers things which he had not done; would call him a fool and apply to him other vile and approbrious (sic; probably meant opprobrious) names and epithets," etc. About Oct 1893, according to the husband, his wife had been guilty of having illicit relations with one Leon WEST at various places in the state of GA and NC and at Cullasaja, NC. He also accused her of adultery with one A. L. DILLARD in NC and GA. PI learned of Def's unfaithfulness about May 1894. Upon separating himself from Def PI took the elder child with him and left the younger one with her, making suitable provision for their support. He alleged that Def was not a suitable person to be entrusted with either child. He sued for divorce, asked that the custody of Mary B. BIDWELL be confirmed to him and that the custody of Maud A. BIDWELL be awarded to him. The divorce was granted, with custody of the older child being granted to the father and the younger to the mother. Ella countersued in the state of MA but the ND divorce was held to be valid. The NC action during March term of Superior Court 1903 gives Mary Beulah's birth date of 19 September 1891 and that of Maud as 17 August 1893. Ella accused George of abandoning her and "pretending to marry" another woman, with whom he was living in Macon Co. NC. She maintained that he was worth $250,000 to $300,000. There were further suits and countersuits; the Wake Co. court ruled that a judgment of non-suit be rendered and that Def recover his costs. This was affirmed during August court term, 1905. Any Wake Treasures reader interested in this case is advised to look at the file, as it is voluminous and contains much information about these people's lives.

BIGGS, Daniel vs. Louisa BIGGS

Marriage contract was annulled and dissolved during second October court term, 1919. PI stated that he and Def (who prior to her marriage was Louisa PERKINSON) were married in Raleigh on 26 May 1907 and lived together until March 1908. During that month the Def left the PI, refusing to live with him any longer. They had lived apart for more than 10 years at the time of this action.

BIGGS, Lilly vs. Lessie BIGGS

The marriage was “annuled and dissolved” at the July term of court, 1910. PI stated that she and Def were married in Wake Co. on 31 Oct 1908. During Aug 1909 the Def separated from the PI and had not lived with her since. Some time during Aug 1909, in the town of Salisbury, NC, the Def committed adultery with a woman whose name was not known to the PI. Def was not found in Wake Co. One Captain BURT, a former policeman of Salisbury, NC was summoned to give evidence in the case.

BIRDSALL, Stephen vs. Sarah BIRDSALL

Marriage dissolved during July term on Superior Court, 1914. PI stated that he and Def were married in Wake Co. some time during 1897. Shortly after their marriage, the Def left PI and had not lived with him since. PI was a resident of Wake Co. for 2 years preceding this action. Since Def’s departure she had committed adultery with various men and had given birth to two illegitimate children. Sarah BIRDSALL was described as “colored and resides in South Park.”

BIRDSONG, John H. vs. Callie May BIRDSONG

The marriage was annulled during the April term of Superior Court, 1902. PI alleged that he and Def were married on 5 May 1900 and separated on 5 May 1901. During May and June of 1901 Def committed adultery in Charlotte, Greensboro, and Salisbury with several unknown persons, and “During July 1901 Def was an inmate of the house of ill-fame in the city of Raleigh occupied and kept by on Annie TAYLOR,” committing adultery with a number of men. T. C. HARTMAN of Spencer, NC was summoned to give evidence in the case, and this summons indicates that May BIRDSONG was also known as May SPENCER.

BLACKBURN, Absalom vs. Dorothy Cochrane BLACKBURN

Divorce granted during January term 1920. PI stated that he had been a NC resident for the past 6 years. He and the Def were married on 8 Feb 1918 at Greensboro, NC and lived together until some time during the month of Feb 1919 when PI separated from Def. PI alleged that during Feb 1919 the Def committed adultery “with certain parties to the plaintiff unknown in the Bland Hotel in the City of Raleigh.” The Def was not found in Wake Co. An undated letter from the Def, signed “Mrs. A. BLACKBURN,” 406 Summit Street So., Iowa City, IA, is included in this file. She wrote: “I have been informed that Mr. A. BLACKBURN was granted a divorce January 31 1920, in your court. At that time I was in Texas with my parents, at his request, and knew no thing whatever about it, untill months latter (sic).” She requested a copy of the decree and evidence.

C.R.099.604.5

BLAKE, Sarah vs. Sion H. BLAKE

Annulment granted during October term of Superior Court, 1890, and custody of the couple’s child was granted to the PI. Sarah BLAKE, PI alleged that she and Def were married in July 1885 and had on child, Beatrice BLAKE, from this union. Both PI and Def resided in Wake County for more than two years. They lived together until February 1890 when Def separated from PI and did not return. During 1888 and 1889 Def lived with one Lucinda FOWLER near the city of Raleigh. During the years 1886 through 1889 the Def “was a frequent visitor at the house of ill fame kept in the city of Raleigh by one Lena EARL, and during the years aforementioned lived in adultery with one Cornelia JOHNSON and divers other lewd women in the said house of ill fame.” Edward H. DICKERSON was summoned to give evidence in this case.

BLEDSON, Ann Eliza (also spelled Anlieza) vs. Charles BLEDSON

Divorce granted during April term of Superior Court, 1891, and custody of the couple’s children was awarded to the PI. PI stated that she and her husband were married on 17 August about 1880 in Wake Co. and the PI resided continually in Wake Co. after that time. They lived together about 13 months until Def abandoned her because she took out a writ against him for beating her “without cause or provocation.” He remained absent for about 3 years, then returned and lived with PI about 12 months, treating her very cruelly. About August 1886 Def left PI again and began living with one Candace HOLLOWAY, fathering a child by her. The Def then left the state and had not been heard from since. Def also father child by one Alberta CRENSHAW shortly after PI and Def were married. Ann Eliza and Charles BLEDSON had 3 children aged about 10, 9, and 5 (unnamed) at the time of this complaint. Edna HOLLOWAY (col) was summoned to testify in this case.

BOLING, Perley vs. Burt BOLING

Divorce was granted during June term of court, 1914. The complaint states that Pl and Def were married in Wake Co. on 14 May 1912 and lived together until 19 Nov 1912 when Def abandoned Pl. He was alleged to have committed adultery with one Olive HILL during 1912 and 1913 and at time of the court action Pl and Olive HILL were living together as man and wife. Def, whose name was also given as Burt BOWLING, was summoned from Clayton, Johnston Co., NC. Fannie BARHAM and Preston BARHAM of Johnston Co. were summoned to give evidence in the case.

BOLLINGER, Annie vs. Edward BOLLINGER

Marriage was annulled and custody of Henry Edward BOLLINGER, "nearly three years old" at time of the decree, was granted to the mother; the decree is not dated but the complaint was filed 15 Feb 1909. Pl alleged that she and Def were married in Wake Co. on 4 Oct 1905; Pl had resided in NC for 2 years preceding the court action. Pl and Def live together until 16 Apr 1906 when Def separated from Pl. During the time they lived together, Def committed adultery with divers women at the house of Bertha BROWN in the city of Raleigh. Edward BOLLINGER was not found in Wake County.

BONNER, Katie S. vs. George G. BONNER

Divorce was granted during Oct court term 1910, and custody of the couple's male child, Henry BONNER, was awarded to the Pl until 1 Nov 1914, at which time the custody of the child was to revert to the Def, who would have control of the child from that time until he was 21. Both Pl and Def were to educate the child "in good preparatory schools and colleges," and the child was to be allowed to visit either parent during his vacations. If either parent died before the boy reached 21, the surviving parent was to have sole custody. Pl alleged that she and Def were married during April 1901 in Beaufort Co., NC. Pl had resided in the state for more than two years and was living with her two children, Henry BONNER, age 8, and May C. BONNER, age 6. Pl and Def separated during Mar 1906; Def was accused of committing adultery with Malissa BRANTLEY near Edward, NC, during 1908.

BOOTHE, Tabitha vs. John W. BOOTHE

Divorce was granted during April court term 1889. Pl alleged that she (maiden name: Tabitha CARROLL) and Def were married in Orange Co. in 1843 "or thereabouts." They lived together until about Mar of 1880, most of the time in Wake Co. Pl "was compelled by his conduct to leave him in said month of March 1880." She alleged that Def was addicted to alcohol and that he spent "much time with lewd women and other vicious people," and that for some years one Edna BUSCH, a colored woman, lived on his land in Wake County and that the Def was constantly guilty of adulterous intercourse with her, frequently spending nights as well as days at the house in which she lived with her reputed husband one Jack BUSCH. Def eventually brought this Edna into his home, at which time Pl "ceased to cohabit with him as a wife," although she stayed in the home, having no place else to go. During 1880 his conduct toward her became so insulting and violent that "for fear he would kill her or do her some great bodily harm, and because she then had lost all hope of his amendment she was compelled to leave him and go to live with their son John BOOTHE, who though not of age rented a small piece of land from one Howard LOWE in Wake Co., and lived upon and cultivated it." A son George BOOTHE is also mentioned. After Pl left, the Def took a woman named Becky FOARD, alias Becky CHAPPELL, into his home. When Pl first went to live with her son she was able to do enough work to keep from being a burden, but at the time of her complaint she was nearly 66 years old, infirm and unable to earn her support. Her sons at this time both had families of their own and were unable to support her. She sued for alimony as well as divorce. The following people were summoned to give evidence in this action: James STONE, P. A. SORRELL, Adolphus H. JONES, John W. BOOTHE, Jr., George E. BOOTHE, Lewis MARCOM, Dowd MARTIN, and Jim JONES. Pl was awarded a portion of the Def's crops and land. Others summoned to give evidence: S. R. HORNE, V. ROYSTER, Wm LOWE, J. Wesley BOOTHE.

BOWERS, G. J. vs. Willie Ann BOWERS

Divorce granted during October term of court 1899. PI alleged that he and Def were married about October 1876 and lived together until October 1891, when Def left; she had since that date refused to return and had been heard to declare that she would never return.

C. R.099.604.6

BOWLING, Hattie vs. Robert BOWLING

Divorce granted during 1st July term 1918. PI alleged that she and Def were married in Wake Co. in Nov 1905 and that Def had abandoned her more than 10 years prior to the complaint. They had no children. Def had committed adultery with a woman named EVANS in Franklin Co. NC before and after separation. PI had been a resident of NC all her life. The jurors' names were given: J. M. MANGUM, M. R. MEDLIN, Roy HONEYCUTT, Geo S. TERRELL, Job H. WEATHERS, Horlie E. GLEN, R. J. CONRAD, Jos. ALLEN, W. A. WILLIAMS, P. J. WILLIAMS, R. S. WILLIAMS, John HAYES.

BOYLAN, William vs. Matilda BOYLAN

Divorce granted during October term 1903. PI stated that he and the Def were married in the city of Raleigh "about 17 years ago." They lived together for about 7 years and had one child, which had since died. About 8 or 9 years prior to the complaint, the Def left the home, stating that she was going to Richmond, VA. PI had not heard from her since and did not know her present whereabouts. The Def was not found.

BRADSHAW, J. E. vs. Eleanor BRADSHAW

Divorce granted during March term of court 1916. PI alleged that he had been a resident of Raleigh for more than 20 years prior to the bringing of this action. The couple was married about 6 Dec 1911 in Tacoma, WA. During the year 1913 they established a home in Raleigh which, in PI's absence, Def left "without any valid reason or fault on his part, and that he has not since heard from her, or know her whereabouts." PI believed that at some time Def had committed adultery with one H. EDWARDS and others. Jake POPE and E. B. YEARLEY (YEASLEY?) were summoned to evidence. The Def was not found in Wake Co.

BRADSHAW, John vs. Sarah BRADSHAW

The marriage was annulled during January term of court 1917. PI alleged that he and Def were married in Wake Co. about 1900. They both lived in NC for 10 successive years, and during their married life no children were born to them. Def abandoned PI in 1903. The summons was served on the Def in Wake Co.

BRANCH, Chaney vs. George BRANCH

Divorce granted during April term of court 1902. PI stated that she and Def were married on 27 July 1893 in Raleigh and lived together there until some time during Mar 1894 when Def abandoned PI and lived apart from her continuously since that time. PI alleged that Def contributed little to their mutual support and she was obliged to pay most of the household expenses out of her own means. Immediately after their marriage Def was charged on a warrant in bastardy proceedings, and PI was obliged to pay $28.00 out of her savings to free him from arrest. Def soon began to spend part of the night and then all night away from home, spending the time "with lewd women." In Mar 1894 PI became sick and Def told her he would not pay rent for the house they occupied and that she must go to her father's house a short distance from Raleigh. After PI recovered, she went to work as a nurse for a family living in the suburbs of Raleigh where she remained some weeks, but Def only came to see her once. The summons states that George BRANCH was "said to reside 416 Harnett St." In Feb 1907 George BRANCH, colored, was summoned from New Hanover Co.; the note accompanying the summons stated "I understand that he worked at a railroad station in Wilmington sometime last year, or at the docks or wharfs."

BRANCH, Ella vs. Quint BRANCH

An annulment was granted during April term of court 1891. PI alleged that she and Def were married in Jan 1875 in Raleigh. The Def left PI and at divers times lived in adultery with one Patsy DUNSTON of Raleigh; this situation existed at least 6 months prior to the filing of the complaint. Ella sued as a pauper and was awarded court costs. Pattie SMITH and James UPPERMAN were summoned to give evidence in this action.

BRICKMAN, B. C. vs. Lillie BRICKMAN

Divorce was granted during July term of court 1900. PI stated that he and Def were married on 8 May 1892, and Def left PI during Apr 1896. Since the abandonment Def had committed adultery with one _____ MILLER and with other persons. The Def was known to be living in Saginaw City, Saginaw Co. MI at the time of the suit, and the summons was served on her there.

BRIDGEFORD, David vs. Beulah BRIDGEFORD

PI alleged that he and Def were married in Raleigh on 15 Sep 1906. They lived together until about 15 Sep 1908 when they separated. PI accused Def of committing adultery with one Lucius WILCOX during the years 1908 through 1911 and also with Otis HAWKINS and Mack AIKENS in Raleigh as well as with other men unknown to the PI. Beulah BRIDGEFORD's address was given as 909 Manly St. in the summons. Divorce was granted during January term of court 1912.

BRIDGERS, Julius vs. Henrietta BRIDGERS

During January court term 1876 the marriage was dissolved and "it is further adjudged that it shall be lawful for said Plaintiff Julius BRIDGERS to marry again in the same manner as if the said Defendent (sic) Henriette BRIDGERS were actually dec'd." PI alleged that he and Def were married on ____ day of ____ 1866 in Wake Co. PI and Def were both residents of the state and had been for more than 3 years prior to this action. "About ____ day of ____ 1874 Def committed adultery with one C. JEWELL a white man (the PI being a man of color) in Wake Co."

BRINKLEY, Effie vs. Tip BRINKLEY

Divorce was granted during February term of court 1917. According to the complaint, PI and Def married in Raleigh on 31 July 1909 and lived together until 25 June 1912, when Def left PI. During December 1914 and Jan and Feb 1915 Def committed adultery with one Mary PINK. The PI had been a resident of NC for 2 years prior to this action, while the Def was not found within the state.

BRITT, Elizabeth J. vs. G. W. BRITT

The marriage was annulled during July term of Superior Court 1899. PI stated that she and Def married in Aug 1866. In 1893 the Def left the PI and had since lived in adultery with one Cornel PARKER from 1893 through 1897 in Wake and Durham Counties. Annie RAYNER, daughter of Stephen RAYNER, colored, was summoned to give evidence in this action. There is also a file on Gaston BRITT vs. Elizabeth BRITT which was brought to court during October term 1895. The facts as, above were the same except that Mr. BRITT stated that Mrs. BRITT left him, and there was no mention of adultery. He stated that he and Def had resided in the State of NC for more than 20 years. PI consented to a judgment of non suit.

BROUGHTON, Charles vs. Lucinda BROUGHTON alias Lucinda RAND

There is only a complaint in this case: apparently it was never pursued. PI alleged that he and Def were slaves prior to their emancipation in 1865 and lived together as husband and wife from about 1 Aug until the ____ day of Aug 1866 when they complied with the requirements of the Act of Assembly of 1866 Cap. 40 and became legally man and wife. They were both residents of Wake County. About 13 April 1868, at the house of the PI on the plantation of Samuel MITCHINER in Wake Co., Def committed adultery with one Dennis COOK, then of Wake Co. Upon discovery Def left PI's house and had not lived with him since. PI swore that he was "not worth two hundred dollars."

BROWN, Autney vs. Richard BROWN

Divorce granted during Spring term of court 1875. PI alleged that she and Def were married on or about 10 July 1865. "At the time of the acts of cruelty and adultery hereinafter complained of the PI and were residents of this state." Shortly after the marriage Def began to be cruel and abusive to the PI, and he persisted in such treatment until the PI was forced to leave the home, which she did about Oct 1869. Def was guilty of adultery with one Mary SPARKMAN about 1 Sep 1870; he also lived with the Mary SPARKMAN, and she had a child about 1 June 1871, begotten by the Def. PI and Def resided in NC for 9 years prior to this action. A summons was issued to Mary SPARKMAN in Orange Co., NC.

BROWN, Caroline vs. Pugh BROWN

Divorce granted during Fall term of court 1870. PI stated that she and Def were married about Aug 1862 in Raleigh. They lived together in Wake Co. until 1864 when he left her, sick and unprovided for, and went to Weldon, NC, where he stayed until some time prior to this action. He was thought to have left that place. In Weldon Def lived in adultery with one Sarah HOLLEY, taking her with him when he left there. PI applied to sue as a pauper. Pugh BROWN's summons was sent to Halifax Co., and Henry VASS of Wake Co. was summoned as a witness; he attested "That he knows Pugh BROWN, the defendant, that he the defendant, has not been in Raleigh to his knowledge since the surrender, that the plaintiff and defendant were free persons and were married before the war; that in 1860 he saw the defendant in bed with one Sarah HOLLY...(and) since the war the defendant has acknowledged to him that he was still living with Sarah HOLLY..."

BROWN, Eliza vs. William BROWN

Divorce granted during February term 1913. PI stated that on or about 26 Oct 1901 she and Def were married by a JP in Wake Co. and lived together "for some time thereafter, until the defendant finally deserted and abandoned her, leaving her destitute and penniless, in a strange land and without friends, in Chesterfield Co. VA, to which place she had gone with him to make their home." Shortly after their marriage Def began to beat and otherwise mistreat PI "on account of his vile and vicious character and temperament." At the time of the marriage PI had believed Def to be an honorable, sober man, but shortly after the marriage he began to drink frequently and heavily. Also shortly after their marriage Def began to live in adultery with one Ann POWELL, and committed adultery with other women unknown to PI. After moving to Chesterfield Co., VA, Def began visiting a prostitute in Petersburg and began to live with this woman.

BROWN, Jefferson D. vs. Annie BROWN

Divorce granted during October term 1901. PI stated that he and Def were married in 1893. About October 1895 Def abandoned PI and had committed adultery. PI had been a resident of NC for more than 2 years.

BROWN, John vs. Arinda BROWN

The divorce was granted during June term of court 1877. PI alleged that he and Def were married in Raleigh in 1868. In 1872 and at sundry times thereafter Def lived in adultery with one SOUSER (white) a Sergeant in the US Army stationed at Raleigh. Between 1 Feb 1876 and 1 July 1876 Def committed adultery in the city of Raleigh with one Hardy RAGLAND (colored).

BROWN, Joseph vs. Ann BROWN

Divorce granted during August term of Superior Court 1881. PI alleged that he married Def about 1870. Both PI and Def had been residents of Wake Co. for more than 20 years. About 1876 and at various times since that date Def had committed adultery with one Butcher ROGERS. Def had not lived with PI since that time and PI "has had nothing to do with her as man and wife since her guilty conduct came to his knowledge." Green JEFFREYS and Wiley JONES were summoned to give evidence in this case.

BROWN, Millie vs. Willie BROWN

Divorce was granted during December term of court, 1917. PI alleged that she and Def were married in 1909 in Wake Co. They lived together until 1910; during that year the Def committed adultery with Lula PERSON. Willie BROWN was first summoned in Wake Co. "in the Penitentiary;" he was not found there and on 5 Nov 1917 Def was served a summons in Halifax Co. (State Farm).

BROWN, Wilbert vs. Clara BROWN

Divorce was granted during December term of Superior Court, 1915. PI alleged that he and Def had residents of NC all of their lives. They were married about 11 Feb 1909 and lived together until early in January 1915 when Def abandoned PI, committing adultery with one Henry LASSITER as well as others unknown to PI. PI further alleged that Def contracted gonorrhea and infected PI. This couple had 2 children, Wilbert BROWN, about 5, and Janet BROWN, about 3. Def took the children with her when she left.

BROWN, William M. vs. Martha A. BROWN

Divorce was granted during March term of court 1869. PI stated that he and Def were married on 27 Oct 1848. They were residents of Wake County until Def moved to Columbia, SC in 1868. PI accused Def of committing adultery with one John STUBBINS and others and of continuing to live with Mr. STUBBINS in SC. PI stated that "she leaves behind several children (unnamed) as the offspring of the said marriage." William M. BROWN and Robert DOBBIN put up a $200 bond for the successful prosecution of the case.

BROWN, William T. vs. Eliza J. BROWN

Divorce was granted during a special March term of court, 1884. PI alleged that he and Def were married about Feb 1874. They had resided continuously in NC for 5 years prior to the initiation of this action. Def left PI in March 1879. Prior to this separation, in 1876, Def committed adultery with one W. CHOPLIN, and since the separation she had lived in adultery with one Richardson PERKINSON and had illegitimate children.

BRUTON, W. C. vs. Minerva P. BRUTON

PI failed to appear in court and the case was dismissed sometime early in the year 1919. PI alleged that and Def were married in Ruby, SC in April 1905. They lived together until 23 Dec when Def committed adultery with one W. H. HOLT. PI had resided in NC for 2 years preceding the filing of this complaint.

BYRUM, Mary C. vs. Andrew J. BYRUM (folder gives names as BRYAN, Mary C. vs. Andrew J.)

An annulment was granted in court sometime during 1879. PI stated that she and Def were married Sep 1875, and about 7 April 1876 Def abandoned PI and lived in adultery with one Mary BAILY in Wake County. The summons was never served on the Def; he was believed to be "keeping himself concealed." There was one child born of this marriage, as the decree states that "the child of said marriage (is to be) retained by her."

BRYAN, Mary H. vs. Frank V. BRYAN

An annulment was granted during July term of Superior Court 1905. PI alleged that she and Def married in Wake County on 25 May 1893 and lived together until 18 Oct 1904, when Def left PI and lived in adultery with one Alley HEARTSFIELD in Raleigh during 1904 and fathered a child by this woman. Def was not found in Wake County and was believed to have left the state. Violet HARRISON, "colored," 414 Watson St., and Lucy GREEN, "colored," near 414, "were summoned to give evidence in this case.

BRYANT, Gatsey vs. Richard BRYANT

Divorce granted during February term of Superior Court 1903. The PI stated that she and Def were married about 1896 and lived together until some time in 1898, when Def "separated himself from the plaintiff and lived in adultery with one Lula MILLS, colored." In 1899 Def, then a resident of Wake Co., abandoned his wife and ran away to Virginia, with the said Lula MILLS. Shepherd BUFFALOE, a driver for Chas E. JOHNSON, was summoned to give evidence in this case. Richard BRYANT not found in the state of NC.

BRYANT, Lizzie vs. Frank BRYANT

PI stated that she and Def were married in Wake Co in 187_ and lived there until they separated. Before and after the separation Def lived in adultery in Raleigh with divers persons, and since the separation Def lived in adultery in Raleigh with one Bettie YOUNG. PI accused Def of abuse and stated that he had become "an habitual drunkard." The following persons were summoned to give evidence in this case: Caroline DURHAM (or Caroline HALL), Edmond MILLER, Patsy MILLER, Caroline SCOTT (nee DURHAM), Alvis SCOTT. PI deposed that she was not able to pay court costs and was allowed to sue as a pauper. Apparently no final judgment was rendered in this case.

Note: Boxes 604.4 and 604.5 were somewhat mixed alphabetically; if one searches for a name which should be in one of these boxes and does not find it there, try the other!

THE BRITISH FAMILY TREE

The Family Tree, an English publication
(oft' reprinted)

Four different races make up the British people –
The Scots who keep the Sabbath –
And everything else they can lay their hands on;
The Welsh, who pray on their knees
And on their neighbors;
The Irish who don't know what the devil they want,
But are willing to die for it;
And the English, who consider themselves a race of self-made men,
Thereby relieving the Almighty of a dread responsibility.

Adam and Eve had the perfect marriage –
He never had to hear about the man she could have married
And she didn't have to hear about the way his mother cooked!

THE TRAVELING GENEALOGIST

By William Morrissey

To be a generalist is to travel. How can it be otherwise? The vast majority of the United States is populated by people whose ancestors were from somewhere else, and it is the nature of the genealogist to want to learn more about where and how these ancestors lived. There is no better way to know their locale and to research the local records than to travel there. But a trip to learn more about his family history requires some different planning than the usual vacation trip.

A good start can be made by defining your best hopes and aspirations for the trip. Be specific. A specific question like a maiden name or location of the family homestead means searching records as different as church registers, deed records, or tax records. Specific questions point to specific records to begin the search. Along with this list of questions and records you will want to think about the other things you want to learn like the history of the locale. The historical background is essential to writing a family narrative that is both interesting and factual. A reading of the usual recital of family group sheet information versus a book like Ian Frazier's Family clearly illustrates the point. Think of today as being the day after your trip is over and define the information you want to have, the living relatives found, and the photographs taken. Not only does this exercise help you in planning, it also makes for a good sales pitch to your spouse when the nagging question of travel cost arises.

Knowing the records needed to answer specific questions, you can start to evaluate the archives in the area. A local genealogy society is a good place to start this search. Contact the national associations like the Federation of Genealogical Societies among other who can give you names, addresses, and contact individuals in local societies. Depending on what you are searching for, it may well be that the best place to find it is in an archive a hundred miles from the locality you have in mind. This is not the kind of surprise you want to find out about after you arrive. The names, addresses, phone numbers, hours of operations, and record holdings of the local archives can save a lot of time. Maps that are detailed enough to navigate with on unfamiliar streets and highways are widely available, but for some small communities it may still be necessary to resort to a local Chamber of commerce or County Road Department. One class of materials not to take is original records. Make copies because a lost original is gone forever. Copies of pertinent family group sheets and some charts may be all that is needed. Leave books at home. They are heavy, and you will not have any time to read them anyway.

Gathering all of this information and doing the advance homework requires a good deal of letter writing and probably a few phone calls. There may even be parts of the research that can be done in advance of your trip, like looking at census information your local library can get as an interlibrary loan or getting vital statistic records by mail. Local societies run queries in their newsletters and journals, relatives may be interested enough to do some research, and a great resource today is the Internet. The more that can be done before leaving, the more time there will be to do the really difficult work that requires your personal attention.

Depending on your goals, you may want to make a checklist of equipment needed for gravestone rubbings, plotting land deeds, photographs including close-ups of documents, a tape recorder for interviews, and perhaps even a portable copier. With a copier on the spot, you do not have to ask to borrow original materials. Also, volunteering to give copies of your own documents is an easy way to break the ice before asking someone else for permission to copy theirs.

The payoff for all of this advance planning will be apparent on that crucial first day. Having planned so carefully exactly where you are going and why, your questions will be clear and specific so the archivists can point directly to the right records. If you are still uncertain about the resources in the area or how to find the answers to some problems, try arranging for a few hours with a professional genealogist from the area. The local genealogical society is again a good place to turn to for a reference. Time there is precious, and an experienced local person can do a lot to help make the most of it.

The research done on a trip such as this is pretty intense. Now is the time to start keeping that research log and cross index it to the many notes that will be made. Without some organization, it is easy to duplicate research in the confusion of different archives with the same records available. There is also the possibility of returning a few years hence, and duplicating work already done would be tragic. Another good trick is to take a few minutes each evening to review the work done that day, and plan the research for tomorrow. You want to be able to respond to new information as well as to conserve those precious hours the archives are open each day. The archives are usually less crowded early in the morning, so while everyone else is figuring out what to do, you can be at work.

“All work and no play...” is a familiar refrain. You are probably not traveling alone and will need to leave time to accommodate your companion. Sightseeing, photographing, socializing are not time away from research, but rather a part of gathering the background and feel of the community in which your ancestors lived, worked, and played. When it is finally time to write that family history, many of the most interesting parts of the story will come out of the memories gathered doing these things. The sights, smells, and sounds of the locality and speech are the elements that add spice to writing a genealogical narrative.

The last day of any trip is one of mixed feelings. The research is not done (it never will be), and there's more to see and do. Yet the thought of one's own home and bed sounds pretty good, too. At home you open the notes and research log to begin the job of transcribing to the family groups sheets. This is the moment of payoff for all the careful note taking and keeping of logs. Or perhaps, if you were not as diligent as you might have been, it is the moment of realization that you did not record sources carefully enough, and your notes are just not clear on some points. It is, in short, the moment of truth. These notes, these photos, these memories are the reasons for taking the trip. All of the preparation and planning can be wasted if enough time was not taken to record things accurately and accompany them with clear source references.

One last reminder is to write thank you notes to all those people who were so helpful while you were traveling. Have a good trip, and get started on writing that family history!

HOW I PUBLISHED MY RESEARCH

By Richard William Shirk

Introduction

My wife Ann and I have three grown daughters. At the present time, none of them have any real interest in genealogy or family history matters. That doesn't bother me because when I was at a similar age, I didn't either. But I suspect a time will come, sooner or later, when such an interest will develop, and I wanted to pass on to them some useful information, in a form that would be interesting to read and be of lasting value.

Basically, I wanted to consolidate all of my family history material under a single set of covers, to expand the material to be as all-inclusive as possible, to extend my computer skills in the process, and to have fun doing it. I believe I have succeeded.

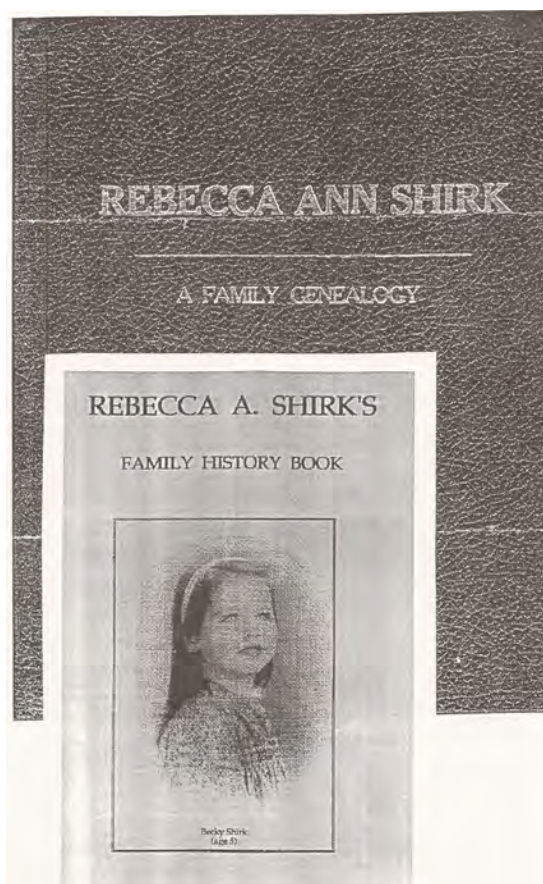

I need to make clear that I have not personally researched and written all of the material included under this one set of covers. Some of it is based on previously assembled family records. Some is extracted from published genealogies and material furnished me by professional researchers. However, much of the material included is the result of my own research efforts. My favorite definition of a genealogist is a "clan digger." I did a lot of my own digging, particularly to flesh out my wife's side of the family tree. I wrote many letters, looked at many books and census records. In short, I did more than simply compile existing material from a host of sources.

I also need to make it clear that this was not a "plan-your-work, work-your-plan" effort. The exact opposite is true. The project grew considerably in scope and cost over time. Nor is it really a completed work, as I decided, somewhat arbitrarily at the time, to cut and run with what I had. Had it not been for that decision, I'd probably still be collecting information and trying to fill in some of the missing gaps.

One final point before launching into specifics: I made a conscious decision at the beginning to make my daughters the focal point, or frame of reference, for this effort. This meant that I needed to include their maternal as well as paternal lines. This was a challenge because I had relatively little material to start with on Ann's lineage. It also meant that the girls would be the anchor point for the pedigree charts, and the termination point for all direct descendant trees I wanted to include. I believe this was a correct decision.

Time Frame

The idea for such a project had been kicking around in my mind for some time, but prior to retirement, there never seemed to be enough time to get into it and do it right. I kept putting it off. The closest I ever got to doing it was back in 1989 while my wife and I were on a two-year temporary assignment with IBM in Santa Clara, CA. That year we went to Alaska for two weeks. One stop on our itinerary was Skagway. One of the main tourist attractions at Skagway is the Klondike Gold Rush

Museum, which chronicles the 1898 Alaska gold rush. Visiting the museum and then riding the White Pass and Yukon narrow gauge train up to the summit of the pass renewed my interest in a particular piece of family history.

My maternal grandfather had traveled to the Yukon in 1898 in search of fame and fortune, with all of those other gold rushers, and he kept a detailed diary of that trip. My mother had carefully transcribed that diary years ago, before the handwriting started to fade and disappear from the pages of the diary. I decided to compile a collection of materials relating to that particular piece of family history, including the diary and all of the letters my grandfather sent home to his wife in Evanston, Illinois while he was away. I also included photographs he took, detailed maps of the route he covered, and related reference materials I found at the Santa Clara public library. I processed the text on the computer and “packaged” it in book format for the use of the immediate family.

That was back in late 1989, early 1990, and it was my first real venture into compiling family history materials. Nothing more happened until 1992 when I retired from IBM. I retired at the end of July, and that September I took an introductory genealogy course taught locally. That class was quite informative and got my creative juices flowing again. As a result, I decided to get serious. In early 1993, I began organizing the records already in my possession, and then over the next year and half I collected a significant quantity of new material. I settled on a presentation format early in 1994, and decided to “cut-and-run” early last November, with the intention of having something completed to put under the Christmas tree. This in fact happened. I received the finished books from the binder a week before Christmas.

Sources

Moving on to the various sources I relied on, let me say that I am fortunate to be related to people, such as my mother and two aunts, one on her side and one on her father’s side, who took an interest in family history years ago and served as unofficial family historians. The information my aunts passed on to me formed the starting point – an important nucleus – of the material I compiled.

I also made extensive use of the New England Historical Genealogy Society in Boston, MA, which I joined in order to have access to their extensive circulating library of genealogy and family history books. You know, there’s a world of difference between reading something on a microfilm view and being able to read it off the actual printed page of a borrowed book. Especially if your eyes are as weak as mine! The society publishes a catalog of all their holdings in the circulating library, and once you are a member in good standing, for a mere $12 you can order three books for a rental period of one month. It’s a very good deal, I believe. I found relevant material in about eight books. My “hit” ratio was about 1 in 4.

I also put in a lot of time at the LDS Family History Library here in Raleigh, became very familiar with their computer system, and ordered many microfilm records from Salt Lake City. There my hit ratio fell off drastically.

Another excellent source turned out to be military records obtained for me from the National Archives in Washington, DC, by a professional researcher living near DC who spent a fair amount of time at the archives in my behalf.

I also obtained a lot of very useful information from a number of local genealogy societies across the county, and from a handful of other paid researchers I stumbled across accidentally from time to time. As I said earlier, I wrote many letters! The interesting thing is that in all but a few isolated instances, my letters were answered.

Organization of Material

After numerous fast starts and considerable soul searching, I decided to sequence my material in the following manner: at the front of the book, following a brief introduction, I placed an extensive set of computer-generated pedigree charts. My thought was that these charts would serve as a general overview of the remaining material. (Personally, I prefer to refer to these as ancestor charts, but I seem to be in the minority in this regard.)

Next, since this effort was intended to be a family history, I included a chapter on the girl's parents. Ann and I each put together a short autobiography of ourselves, mainly information that we thought would some day be of interest to our daughters. This material, including photographs, makes up the Parents chapter.

Then I included a chapter on the girls' grandparents. My mother is still alive and in good health, so I persuaded her to write extensively about her life and times, and she did a very nice job on her autobiography. Ann did a detailed write up on her parents, both of whom are gone, and I did the same for my father. These biographies, including photographs, make up the Grandparents chapter.

The remainder of the book is detailed information about various branches of the family tree. I presented this information as a series of what I called Family History chapters. Each of these 15 chapters contains a list of sources used, a computer-generated outline direct descendant tree summarizing the number of generations traced in the chapter, historical background information (where available), and then a generation-by-generation accounting of the specifics. Each of these generation-by-generation sections includes a computer-generated, narrative-form database report, followed by whatever additional material I had managed to collect. In integrated photographs with text in these family history chapters, rather than grouping them in a separate section of the book.

Coverage

One of the things that bothers me the most about the finished product is the unevenness of the coverage. I was able to trace back some family lines to an original immigrant ancestor. With other lines, I hit a "hart stop" much earlier. The maximum span I was able to document was 15 generations; the minimum was only 5. So that was, and continues to be, a source of major irritation to me.

I am also frustrated by some of the gaps in the information I was able to assemble. Like knowing the year a person died, but not the month or day of death. Some of these gaps are probably fillable with additional digging on my part; some are probably not. So I had to deal with a tendency to put off documenting the "knowns" until more of the "unknowns" were dealt with.

By last November, I felt I had probably reached a point of diminishing returns relative to additional research. That, and the desire to complete something in time for Christmas, resulted in my decision, as I said, to cut-and-run with what I had at the time.

Photographs

Now we come to one of the more interesting aspects of the project, and one of which, if I had to do it all over again, I believe I would handle a little more intelligently.

I had a sizeable collection of family photos to pick from. Many were faded, in poor condition, and there were many sizes and shapes. Most were B/W, but there were also some in color. My original plan was to manually cut-and-paste them into the document, so I had copy negatives made of all of the photos I intended to use, and from these copy negatives I had one or more 3"x5" B/W prints made up. This work was done for me by a photo lab for $5 a copy negative.

Then I decided to have the photos scanned, so that I could electronically cut-and-paste image files into the document rather than actual photos. That seemed to be a more elegant solution, one that would be easier and in the long run would produce a better looking final product. I made inquiries around town. I learned that one high-tech copy center charges $10 a scan and provides no touch-up service. Several other outfits I contacted were willing to do the job, but all had one or more reservations about what I'd be able to do with their output. Finally, through a chance conversation with a fellow retiree, I learned that his son runs a small desktop publishing outfit here in Raleigh. To make a long story short, I contacted the son, and he agreed to do the scans for me for $6 an image, and that price would include some touchup and image enhancement where necessary. Furthermore, he guaranteed that I would have no trouble importing the resulting image files into my document. It was simply too good a deal to pass up.

I left the set of B/W prints done at the photo lab with him, and a month later I had a set of 3.5" computer diskettes, or floppies. Each image file, stored in what is referred to as a TIFF uncompressed gray scale format, occupied an entire 1.44MB floppy. At this point, I need to tell you that I started with a set of 20 photos. I was so pleased with the scanned results that I completely lost touch with reality and wound up with a total of 65!

Customization

Back in the early stages of the project, I had decided that it would be a nice touch to do three versions, one for each of my three daughters. Back then, I hadn't thought through exactly what that would entail, but the concept of personalized copies intrigued me. So I kept that idea alive as the work evolved. In the back of my mind, I knew that automated search/replace operations are easy on the computer. You just search on a particular word, such as Becky, and replace that word with another, such as Beth or Barbara. Piece of cake! I would up preparing three different versions consisting of a cover page, frontispiece, introduction, first page of pedigree charts, and the first page of each family history chapter.

The challenge then was to make sure that Becky's book didn't wide up with references to Beth, or Beth's book with references to Barbara, etc. In short, I had to be very careful with the final collating, which I did manually! Fortunately, I can report to you that this part of the production process was apparently glitch-free.

Reproduction

Let's reset to the point where the material is all assembled in its final form in the computer. The individual sections have been printed separately, proofed, updated, modified, re-proofed, etc. It's time for the final printout, the Mother-Of-All-Printouts. As Murphy would have it, the stage is set for a really major glitch.

I had intended all along to duplex print all my final copies at home. I realized that I might go through a toner cartridge or two before it was all over, but that didn't bother me. What did bother me was finding out at the 11th hour that my laser printer couldn't duplex print. At least, not reliably. When I attempted to print on the back side of pages that had already been through the printer once, the pages came out creased and wrinkled. This didn't happen all the time, but it happened often enough to cause major sequencing problems.

It happened especially often on pages that had photos on the front side, because a laser printer lays down a lot of toner in the process of printing a photograph, and it was that extra toner that was apparently causing the problem. So I came to the reluctant conclusion that I would either have to give up on the notion of double-sided printing, or have the final copies done at a reproduction center.

I decided on the latter approach and wound up printing one single-sided repro master of each page. I then had the final double-sided copies run at a local copy center, followed by a set of last minute correction pages run at the high-tech copy center. As an aside, let me say that the local copy center did a better job and charged less than the high-tech copy center.

I supplied my own paper, four reams of it, for the repro cycle. It was the paper I had intended to use at home with my laser printer. It was a special acid-neutral, 24-pound paper intended to give the pages some permanency and a slightly heavier look and feel than that provided with the usual 20-pound copier paper. I ordered this paper from out of town.

I decided not to run the job myself on the repro center self-service machines for two reasons. First, I needed gray-scale mode because of the photos, and second, I wanted autofeed because of the volume.

So that all added up to letting the repro center folks run the job on the large production copier, the one with all the special bells and whistles.

The final photographs don't look quite as good as they do coming directly off my printer, but they're a reasonable facsimile, I think. They look much better than they would have had I done a manual cut-and-paste.

Binding

Moving long from a bad-news story to a good-news story, we come to binding – as in book binding. I had a total of ten copies of the manuscript run at the repro center. Of these, I had five copies spiral bound by the copy center I held back on the remaining five copies because I wanted to explore the possibility of having them permanently bound – an 11th hour decision on my part.

I compiled a list of about eight local print shops to contact regarding binding services. None of these panned out, primarily because I wanted only five books bound, and the per-book price would have been astronomical. But I was finally referred to a gentleman who works in the book repair department in the area and who operates a small book binding and repair business with his wife out of their home here in Raleigh. The binder looked at my small manuscript and offered me the choice of doing the binding job himself or of sending it out along with a larger set of books being sent to an out-of-state bindery company. He estimated the cost of sending it out would not be significantly higher than if he did the job himself. I decided to let this binder include my manuscript, all five copies of it, with a shipment of other books to Heckman Bindery in N. Manchester, Indiana. This happened Thanksgiving week last November.

What I received back, the week before Christmas, were five handsomely bound volumes with imitation leather covers and gold embossed lettering, per my specifications, professionally side-stitched, for the bargain price of $30 a book. I couldn't have been more pleased!

Software

I will tell you about the hardware/software resources I used for this little project. The pedigree charts were done with an application called Family Tree Maker, developed and marketed by Banner Blue. This program provides an amazingly flexible output format for ancestor and descendant trees of all sorts. With it you can specify the size and style of the boxes it draws, the information included in each box, the font style and size, etc. It is truly versatile. I also used it to create the outline direct descendant charts that I included in each Family History chapter. However, I didn't use this program to create the database it uses for output because of what I consider to be a very kludgy and unnatural input format.

Instead, for creating the genealogical database itself, I used an application from Parsons Technology called Family Origins. This program has a very user-friendly interface for data entry, but it lacks the sophistication of Family Tree Maker when it comes to printed output. Family Origins also contains a nifty report generator capability which I used to produce the narrative-form database reports I included in each Family History chapter. It simply strings all of the information in the database regarding a particular individual into an English-language sentence. The prose style gets a little old after a while, but this feature of the program certainly saved me a lot of re-keying of information.

Family Tree Maker and Family Origins both provide GEDCOM utilities, which allowed me to share information between the programs. Basically, what I did was to create the database with Family Origins, and then export it in GEDCOM format. The final step was to import this GEDCOM file into Family Tree Maker. The interesting thing here is that this all worked just like the book said it would. Those of you who have fooled around with computers for a while know that this is frequently not the case.

Last, but certainly not least in the software category, is Microsoft Word, Version 6.0, which I used to create all of the text components, to integrate the text and image files, and to format the final output to the printer.

Most of this work was done with the DOS version of Word. The one exception is the pedigree charts which I exported as image files from Family Tree Maker into the Windows version of Word prior to final printing. It wasn't possible to do this with the DOS version of Word because of its limited Clipboard support. (If you don't know what the Windows clipboard is all about, let me explain that the clipboard is simply a small scratchpad storage area used for transferring information between Windows-based applications. I'll have a little more to say about DOS versus Windows in a minute.

Hardware

Turning now to the hardware components, I need to tell you that I went through two entirely separate phases. My initial system was an IBM PS/2 Model 70, which contained an Intel 386 processor with a basic clock rate of only 20 MHz. It was pretty slow compared to what's commonly available, and for a lot less money, today. It had 6 MB of memory, and the hard drive had a capacity of only 80 MB. It was a DOS-based system, and attached to it I had an IBM Proprinter dot-matrix printer with a very limited font set.

Now, this was a very usable system, up to a point. I reached that point when I started to manipulate large numbers of image files, such as the scanned photos I told you about earlier. Not only did I not have enough disk space to store them all, but the system got pretty slow whenever I did a print preview operation involving photographs. I was living with the situation, but it was really starting to get to me.

About May of last year, a friend invited me over to show me his new system, an IBM-compatible machine made by Ambra, which has since gone under but which at the time was an IBM subsidiary marketing IBM clones in direct competition with IBM's own PS/2 line. His system was a real smoker! Intel 486-based, 100 MHz clock, 8MB of memory, and a 450MB hard drive. It came with Windows pre-installed. That was all I needed to convince me that the time had come to upgrade my own system. I wound up in June buying the same basic system, with a few minor configuration differences, and shortly thereafter I added an IBM laser printer. I also upgraded my application software to a Windows-based version.

Surprises Along the Way

I've already described one surprise – finding out, very late in the cycle, that my laser printer can't handle double-sided printing reliably, and how that forced me into a repro cycle. I had another surprise regarding my laser printer, but that one occurred much earlier. It turned out the machine wasn't configured with enough memory to be able to print some of the larger photographs I was trying to output to it. That problem was solved by adding an additional 4MB of printer memory.

I had another unpleasant surprise, partway into my final print cycle, when I was forced to replace the tiner cartridge. I knew those things don't last forever, but I didn't realize just how fast I could use up printing lots of photos, or that new ones cost $102 a pop.

Another surprise, of a software nature, had to do with trying to migrate from DOS-based Word to Windows-based Word, which I attempted to do last summer, shortly after acquiring my new system. Apparently, the two programs use different file formats, so it was necessary to process the DOS-based files by using a utility function supplied with the Windows version of Word. Well, guess what? None of the image files converted properly. I spent a lot of telephone time chasing this problem with the technical support folks at Microsoft, but we never solved it. Word for Windows simply didn't like any of my TIFF-formatted image files. So I had to stay with the DOS-based code for those sections of the document that contained photographs which turned out to be everything but the pedigree charts.

But I also had a few other surprises of a less sinister nature. For example, I knew when I started on this project that Ann's grandmother was a registered member of the D.A.R., meaning that our girls had a documented Revolutionary War ancestor. Well, I stumbled across five more in the process of putting all my material together, so I wound up with a total of six documented Revolutionary War ancestors. Who'd have thunk it!

I also discovered, 11 generations back on a family line my father is descended from, that I have a Delaware Indian maiden ancestor. This was in Montgomery County, PA. I haven't done the arithmetic yet to figure out what part Indian that makes me.

Cost Summary

As for the cost aspect of this little effort, let me talk dollars and cents to you for a minute. Actually, I'm a little reluctant to get into this because up to now I think I've managed to convey the impression that my head is screwed on straight and that I'm in reasonable command of my senses. I'm afraid I'm about to blow it...

You know, Mark Twain once remarked that he spent $25 to research his tree, and then had to spend fifty more to cover it up. Well, I'm pleased to report to you that, so far at least, I haven't had to spend anything for cover up. But you never know. Anyway, here's a summary of what I did spend:

Photographs:

Copy negatives/prints:	$250
Scans/touch ups	400
Paid Research:	200
Rentals (books, microfilm):	70

Reproduction/Binding:

Acid-neutral, 24-pound paper	$25
10 repro copies:	190
5 copies spiral bound:	15
5 books leather bound:	150

Total Cost:	$1,300

Acknowledgements

I'd be remiss in not mentioning here that I had very important help along the way. But first I have to tell you about my keyboard disability. You see, back in high school when most of my peers signed up to take Touch Typing 101, I decided that I didn't have time for it. I thought I didn't have room for it in my academic schedule, that I was too busy preparing to be a rocket scientist, astrophysicist, or the like to take a typing class. Boy, was that ever a mistake! I've gone through college, and my adult life, without learning how to type with all ten fingers on the keyboard, and to type without looking at the keyboard. As hunt-and-peckers go, I'm pretty fast, but it does put me at a decided disadvantage when it comes to keyboarding page-loads of text into the computer. That's why I say I have a keyboard disability. This is where my wife Ann comes in. Ann is a pretty fast touch typist.

Back in Santa Clara when we were working on my grandfather's Alaska diary, we developed a system that worked well. Ann would power-type, basically just go like hell and not worry about typos. I would follow on a second pass, fix the typos, add formatting information, rearrange things, etc. until we arrived at a final copy. That's the system we used on this project. Ann did most of the text-based data entry, including my original family history records, and all the stuff I extracted from published genealogies. In a nutshell, she did a lot of keyboarding for me.

Going way back to the very early stages of the project, before I started using Word, Ann performed another valuable service. Most of my family record materials had been keyed into PE2, which is an excellent full-screen editor that's been around for years. But PE2 is not a word-processor, and it has a maximum input line length of 128 characters. Well, when it came time to move these files over to Word, I discovered that the CR/LF characters that PE 2 automatically adds to the end of every input line were playing havoc with Word. So Ann wrote a little program for me that filtered the PE2 files and stripped off the offending CR/LF characters. I could have done that manually, of course, but it would have taken a lot more time and effort, and Ann's software solution was so elegant! It's really great being married to a program, not to mention a touch typist.

I also want to thank my mother profusely for all the proof-reading she did along the way. I think it's safe to say that she proofed the entire manuscript at least twice, and some sections of it probably three times.

Finally, I want to acknowledge a debt of gratitude to the Raleigh Parks and Recreation department, or whoever it is that built and maintains the city's Greenway system. Many of my better ideas regarding how to proceed at various points occurred during work and while I was taking my morning walk on the nearby Greenway. Evidently, the combination of fresh air and exercise was good for the creative process.

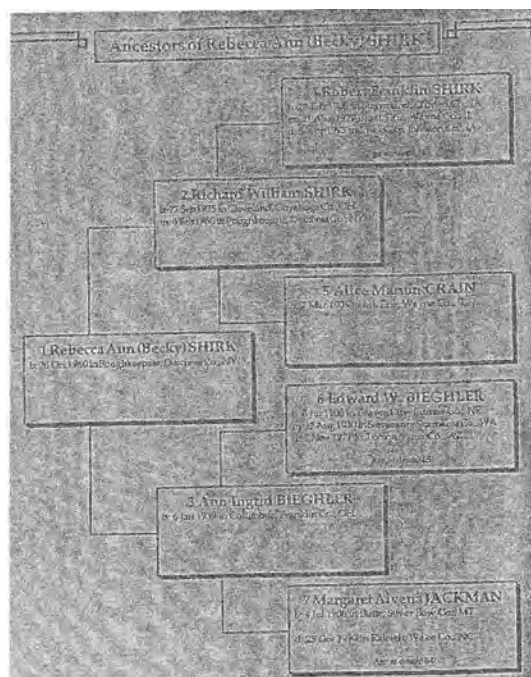

Observations

I'd like to make an observation or two. First, I had no idea at the outset what the final product would look like. Its content and format simply evolved over time. Second, I had no idea at the outset what the project would cost or how long I would spend on it. If someone had told me back in early 1993 that I was going to wind up spending $1,300 or so before it was all over, I would probably have laughed him or her right out of the room.

Borrowing from some of my old IBM jargon, I guess I resorted to a bottom-up design approach, rather than top-down design. In any event, the approach I took is certainly an excellent example of how not to run a project if you want to avoid cost and schedule overruns.

Regarding the photographs, I should probably have bought myself a flat-bed scanner and done the photo scans myself. I probably needn't have bothered with the copy negatives either. Isn't 20-20 hindsight great?

But the important thing, I think, is that I had a lot of fun working on this project, that it turned out reasonably well, and that my daughters seemed genuinely pleased to receive the books at Christmas. As I said at the beginning, the books may not get read right now, but someday I believe they will, and when that happens, the time and money expended on them will prove to have been well spent.

THE 1799 WAKE COUNTY TAX LIST

By Jerry J. Lewis

The 1799 Wake County Tax List (C.R.099.70.1) was recorded on sheets of paper with vertical lines. There was no standard form or format for recording the tax. Therefore, the number of columns, the text headings, and the column order vary by district. In the following abstraction, the columns have been altered from the original document so that they are consistent across all districts.

In order to save space, only the taxpayer's name (NAME), acres of land (ACRES), white polls (WP), and black polls (BP) are presented. Additional information such as "wheels of pleasure," "town lots," etc. is flagged by the presence of an asterisk (*) next to the name. This additional information appears at the end of the source page. The end of each source page is denoted by the text "Page break in source." At the end of some districts, the tax recorder lists that district's taxpayers who failed to report their property.

The vertical order of names appear as they appeared in the original record. Specifically, the surnames in some districts were alphabetized but not in others. The order of the surname and given name has been preserved. So, in some districts the surname precedes the given name and in others, the surname succeeds the given name.

The "Valuable of the town property of the City of Raleigh 1799" lists lot numbers and their corresponding valuation in pounds. Some names were mentioned to specify ownership of partial lots. For example, if more than one person owned a lot. However, these names and valuations are not extracted here.

This abstraction merely expedites and facilitates your ancestor search. Considerable care has been taken to assure accuracy. However, since errors are inevitable, verify the contents before forming conclusions. This can be achieved by comparing it against the original record, preceding/succeeding tax lists, deeds, the 1800 census, etc. Note that some of the earlier Wake County tax lists were abstracted in previous issues of Wake Treasures.

WAKE COUNTY CEMETERY SURVEY LISTING BY TOWNSHIP (PART 2)

By Irene Kittinger, Coordinator

*The road winds up the hill to meet the height,
Beyond the locust hedge it curves from sight...
And yet no man would foolishly contend
That where he sees it not, it makes an end.*

By Amma Carleton

A list of state roads and highways for locating Wake's graveyards is included at the end of each article (this was mentioned in the introduction to the series, so some readers may have missed the list for Wake Forest and Little River townships). Due to recent and continuing population surge in Wake, new roads are constantly being added – over a thousand more than were in the mid-1980s list we had used. Roads, once upon a time, we 'spect, just growed, as did Topsy. Now, because of planned development, they keep growing – wider, too.

Roads out in the county used to be known officially by numbers, and still are to some extent, but emergency and delivery services had a hard time finding them. A state listing from the 1970s for these roads added the names that locals called them, many for a long-time family along a road or at its end, which is great for genealogists. A road's name or number rarely changes now, but one county worker believes that numbers will eventually be eliminated altogether. The state road (SR) numbers are on the signs of those maintained by the state, but we have yet to see a map that has both names and number. On roads close by or in/out of the city, on free maps provided by banks, etc. both were given, but most later maps are not doing this. County insets did name the main roads but gave only numbers on others and not all roads were shown. City streets are easier to read on most maps, but a recently purchased map of Greater Raleigh requires a magnifying glass for the county inset which left off many numbers and gave no names. Only the road numbers are shown in Puetz's North Carolina County Maps of a few years ago.

We've all experienced trying to find our way around a new place. Sometimes a road has a different name at one end, then acquires a street name as it passes through a town. On a few roads, both the number and name lose themselves at a dead end and – this is tricky – join another road, then pick up again but the name might change (usually crossing a main road). There are 90° turns where the road number and name also turn, while the road we turned off continues straight-on with a new name. Or, the same name is kept in turning but the road number changes. Out in the county, a local name might show up on the sign (as with streets) but may not be on a map. The only rule: When lost, even with a map – stop and ask!

Continuing clockwise around the county, the townships of Marks Creek and Saint Matthews are now presented. Usually, the name of the oldest or first-born adult male in family graveyards is given – some, if not inscribed on a stone, are learned by someone else's knowledge or word of mouth. Remember, not many inscriptions before mid- to late 1800s are found. Please bear in mind that distances may not be exact, locations might lie on the wrong side of the road. Perhaps wrong information has been given, or a typing error has occurred. (Corrections for errors in the previous journal article are given at the end of this article.)

For any errors or information to share (an unlisted cemetery or identification, and of unmarked graves, or about moved or destroyed ones) for future publication of the full survey, do call or write the coordinator: 919 / 467-6989; 1218 Scott Place, Cary, NC 27511-4721. For inquiries, an SASE is appreciated.

Marks Creek Township

This township borders Johnston County to the E and three townships: Little River from NE to NW, Saint Matthews on the W, and at the southernmost tip, Saint Mary's (across the Neuse River). Starting S where the Neuse River enters Johnston County and going NE, the line then turns HW at the Little river until it meets SR 2320 and follows it also NW. The border drops due S onto SR 1003, forking SW at SR 2234, then continues S again, crosses US 64 and changes to 2500. After crossing a RR, it bears W and in about .2 mi at SR 2514, drops S and straight on via SR 2513 to SR 2233. For about .2 mi northwesterly on 2233, the line meets Poplar Creek and follows it to the Neuse River, then S and E into Johnston County.

Surveyors: Martin Winfree, Little River Historical Society – Edythe M. Tippet, chair, Lonnie Knott, Pat Y. Wheeler, Mary Lowry Taylor, Kathleen Shearon, Donna Kelly, Irene O. Kittinger, Adrienne Witherspoon, Helen and Harry Prevette, Blanche Keith, Lewis V. Parrish, A. V. Andersson Jr., Bill Vaughan, Fannie Wooten, Eddie Taylor. We wish to thank Doris Talley for her help.

Various Dates of Surveys: 1975-7, 1980, 1986, 1992, 1995-6. A first name (head of family or oldest born – and not necessarily the first burial), if known, is given.

*Cemetery with no inscribed markers – only fieldstones, or may have been destroyed by site is known. A cemetery with inscribed markers may also have unmarked graves or fieldstones.
