Styles Used in Abstracts and Transcriptions: In an attempt to provide consistency throughout Wake Treasures, the Journal Committee has adopted the following styles to be used in all abstracts or transcriptions.

- Spelling – Retained as found in the original document.
- Surnames – Capitalized and bold, even in word-for-word transcriptions.
- ? following a word – Letters difficult to read, but it looks like (DUW ?) or there is a second possibility (PANN/PAW ?).
- ? following a letter in a word – Uncertain of the preceding letter (MU?RRY).
- … – Words, phrases or sentences are omitted from the original.
- ~~Word~~ —Word, phrase or sentence marked through in original document.
- Tho_as or Tho__s – Letter or letters illegible or missing.
- _____ – Word illegible or missing.
- [Anything in brackets] – Comment from abstractor or transcriber.

Other Notations:
NC Archives – The short form for the Reference Unit of the Division of Archives and History, North Carolina Department of Cultural Resources.
CR.099.000/AR 6.0/etc. – The call or stack numbers used by the NC Archives to organize the storage of records.

WILLS ARE FOUND IN COUNTY RECORDS, RIGHT?

By Debbi Blake, North Carolina State Archives

Everyone knows where to check for wills. Right? County records. Right? Actually, for the most part, that is right—probate of wills occurred in the county clerk of court's office, so researchers can go straight to the Archives' county records for these most important documents. But that is not all of the story. First, what exactly is a will?

A will is a legal instrument by which a person disposes of his property. The disposition is to take effect after the person dies. There are several types of wills, but the three that are encountered most in doing research are attested, holographic and nuncupative wills. An attested will is one that has been executed according to law. A holographic will is one that is executed and signed totally in the testator's hand. A nuncupative will is one in which the testator, usually on the death bed, orally dictates his/her will to witnesses or declares his wishes to witnesses and they are written down.

Sometimes the will begins with the words "my last will and testament." The testament part refers to the disposition of personal property, while the will part disposes of real property.

The body of the will is the essence of what the testator wishes to happen to his/her property. The executor or executrix is named and the testator and witnesses signed the document or made their marks. Sometimes, at a later date, a codicil is added to a will when the testator wants to make some changes to the will but does not need to change it so drastically that a whole new will is necessary.

As mentioned in the introductory paragraph, the North Carolina State Archives has many, many wills among its holdings. Most are part of the county records series. The Archives has wills for most counties up to the early part of the 20th century. For some counties they are even more contemporary and the card catalog will give the inclusive dates for all counties. Generally, though the more contemporary wills remain in the county of probate. It can be interesting, even necessary, to compare original wills with the recorded copy in the will book. Most will books remain in the county of probate, although the Archives does have some originals, and all will books if you consider the ones on microfilm. If for no other reason, the will book copy may be easier to read and, therefore, it is important to take the time to compare them. Remember also that mistakes can and were made. A line might have been left off of a copy. It is also possible to find original wills that were never copied into the will books and wills in will books where the original was lost.

If, however, the researcher limits themselves to will searches in county records, they have done themselves a great disservice. Wills, those elusive and oh-so-sought after documents, can be found in a number of other places in the North Carolina State Archives. Dr. Thornton Mitchell did the genealogical world a great service by compiling an index to wills held by the North Carolina State Archives. North Carolina Wills: A Testator Index 1663-1900 makes it simple for researchers to determine whether or not the Archives has a will for an individual. It also indicates the forms in which that will is available. The index not only gives the citation for the will book copy, but also indicates whether or not the archives has the original. The last column in the index lists the collection in which the original will is found, as well as indicates to the researcher the many places wills can be. Even within the county records, wills can sometimes be found in unexpected places, such as deed books, records of estates and minutes of the courts of pleas and quarter sessions.

Simply put, the very earliest wills, those prior to 1760, were filed with the secretary of state's office. By 1777 probate of wills was handled by the county courts and taken over by the county superior courts in 1868. For more comprehensive information regarding laws involving wills see Helen Leary's North Carolina Research. A short synopsis of laws related to wills can also be found in the introduction to Mitchell's North Carolina Wills.

Other places to search for wills or copies of wills are private collections, Supreme Court records, secretary of state land grant books, colonial court records, and, less often, orders and decrees or special proceedings. Finding aids for locating the above are available in the Search Room in card catalogs, on MARS, or through the Guide to Private Collections in the North Carolina State Archives.

Over the course of time many records, including wills, have been lost, unfortunately for us all. If a will has been lost there are often places that can be checked for at least a mention of the will. That information will provide an approximate date of death based on the probate date. County court minutes are the most likely place to find such mentions, but other places include estates files, executor's bonds or records, and sometimes guardian records.

The research value of an ancestor's will cannot be overestimated. It is an invaluable look at what an ancestor's wishes were with regard to his/her property. It establishes relationships and often pinpoints location of land. Some salient facts that should be remembered regarding wills are 1) only a small portion of the population left a will 2) some wills do not include names of heirs, only relationships, such as my wife, son, daughter 3) some records have not survived 4) errors occur in wills 5) some people died in unexpected places, such as other countries, states or counties 6) testators often do not mention every family member; he/she may already have given an inheritance to a son or daughter and so has already taken care of them outside the will. The burden of research falls on the researcher, who must study, think and analyze all information that could be pertinent. Looking at all available documentation can be daunting, and, yes, even a bit tedious, but in the long run, isn't finding a will worth it?

STATEWIDE NAME LISTS OF THE CIVIL WAR ERA, 1861-1869
PART 8: NORTH CAROLINA, NORTH DAKOTA, OHIO, OKLAHOMA, AND OREGON.

By William Dollarhide

Excerpted from the original article in the Jan-Feb 2008 issue of Everton's Genealogical Helper.
Used with permission.

This is the eighth segment of the series, "National and Statewide Name Lists of the Civil War Era, 1861-1869." Part 1 identified the National Soldier Lists, Union Pension Records, and National Tax Assessments; Part 2 began the state-by-state resources with Alabama, Alaska, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, and the District of Columbia; Part 3 continued with Florida, Georgia, Hawaii, Idaho, and Illinois; Part 4 continued with Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, and Kentucky; Part 5 continued with Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, and Michigan; Part 6 continued with Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, and Nevada; Part 7 continued with New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, and New York; and this Part 8 continues with the states of North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, and Oregon.

Statewide Name Lists:

Between the 1860 and 1870 federal censuses, there were state censuses, statewide tax lists, military lists, and other statewide name lists produced for Union and Confederate states, including territories and states created during or shortly after the Civil War. Post-Civil War Pension Records for the confederate soldiers were also a function of the individual states, rather than the U.S. federal government. This review is presented in alphabetical order for all participating states and territories of the Civil War era, and identifies for each the following resources:

Online Resources:

- The State Archives and/or the State Library Website; and any Civil War related databases available online at a state Website.
- Any private Civil War Website for a state.
- Any online statewide name lists, 1861-1869.

Published Resources:

- Any published Compiled Service Records, Militia Lists, Pension Records, or Veteran Records specific to the state.
- Any statewide name lists 1861-1869, including State Censuses, Tax Lists, or Voter Registration Lists.

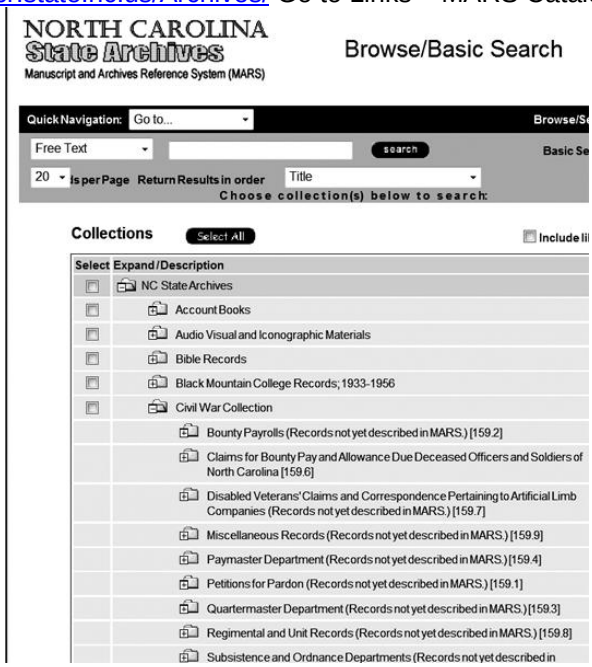
1. North Carolina State Archives – MARS Catalog Search
Home Page: www.ah.dcr.state.nc.us/Archives/ Go to Links – MARS Catalog.



One of America's great archives, the NC State Archives in Raleigh holds over 50,000 linear feet of original materials containing millions of individual items. Collections from the Civil War era are extensive, as are county records transferred to the archives, vital records, and colonial and state records dating to the early 1600s. Although the archives contains by far the most extensive assembly of manuscript records and North Caroliniana, a researcher must visit the archives in person to view any records included in the huge collection – the NC State Archives has virtually no digitized databases available via the Internet. But, one online service that is very useful is the Manuscript and Archives Reference System (MARS), the descriptive catalog of their holdings. The categories are well organized for locating certain types of records, for example, the category, "Civil War Collection," includes the following sub-headings:

- Bounty Payrolls
- Claims for Bounty Pay and Allowance Due Deceased Officers and Soldiers of North Carolina
- Disabled Veterans' Claims and Correspondence Pertaining to Artificial Limb Companies
- Miscellaneous Records
- Paymaster Department
- Petitions for Pardon
- Quartermaster Department
- Regimental and Unit Records
- Subsistence and Ordnance Departments

2. North Carolina State Library – Online Library Catalog
Genealogical Research Page: http://statelibrary.dcr.state.nc.us/iss/gr/genealog.htm

At this page, go to the link for the State Library Catalog. The State Library of North Carolina in Raleigh is located in the same building as the NC State Archives, and together, these facilities represent the largest collection of published and manuscript materials for all periods of North Carolina's history. A program to include digitized documents at the state library's website is just getting organized, so the main online service at this state facility is the very fine State Library Catalog. Searching the catalog allows many different routines, including those within subject categories such as "genealogy." As an example, a search for "Winslow Family" brought up 8,837 entries, with results included from any reference to the keywords from the title, author, subject listing, plus any descriptive wording attached to a particular title. A search can also be specific to a title, for example, a search for any title containing the words "civil war," revealed 1,306 entries.

4. The Civil War in North Carolina – Civil War Soldiers Index
www.researchonline.net/nccw/mastindx.htm

   The index appears to be complete for the nearly 200,000 soldiers supplied by North Carolina to Civil War regiments. Find a name from the main alpha list to see the soldier's name, regiment, and company. Click on a name to see a description of the regiment, history, battles, number killed/wounded, etc., and a link to any website dedicated to a particular regiment. Compare this name list with those found at the National Park Service website at www.civilwar.nps.gov/cwss/. Confederate unit histories are not complete at the NPS website, so this North Carolina site provides that service very nicely.

2. North Carolina Troops, 1861-1865: A Roster, compiled by the North Carolina Department of Archives of History, edited by Louis H. Manarin, published by Broadfoot Pub. Co., 1966, 16 vols., FHL book 975.6 M2nc and 15 supplement volumes. See also North Carolina Confederate Soldiers, 1861-1865, edited by Janet B. Hewett ; arranged by Joyce Lawrence, published by Broadfoot Pub., 1999, 3 vols. From intro: "These are names of North Carolina Confederate soldiers that are listed in the 16-volume Broadfoot Publishing Company set, The Roster of Confederate Soldiers, 1861-1865. The name roster lists the soldiers alphabetically by name. The unit roster lists the soldiers sequentially by units in the order of cavalry, artillery, and infantry and miscellaneous. These rosters may be used as an index for accessing individual compiled service records." Contents: vol. 1: Name roster: A-O; vol. 2: Name roster P-Z, unit roster, Cav., 6th Sr. Res.; vol. 3: Unit roster, 7th. Inf.-Misc., FHL book 975.6M2nccv.1-3.

3. Compiled Service Records of Confederate Soldiers Who Served in Organizations From the State of North Carolina, microfilm of original records at the National Archives, Washington, DC. "... the compiled service records consist of a jacket-envelope for each soldier, labeled with his name, his rank, and the unit in which he served. The jacket-envelope typically contains (1) card abstracts of entries relating to the soldier as found in original muster rolls, returns, rosters, payrolls, appointment books, hospital registers, Union prison registers and rolls, parole rolls, and inspection reports; and (2) the originals of any papers relating solely to the particular soldier. There are cross-reference cards and jacket-envelopes for soldiers' names that appear in the records under more than one spelling… Preceding the jacket-envelope for the individual soldiers in each organizational unit there are empty envelopes on which are listed the officers of that unit. Following these are jacket-envelopes containing (1) caption cards for muster-in and muster-out rolls showing the exact caption of the rolls that were copied and the certificate of the mustering officer verifying the accuracy of the rolls; and (2) record-of-events cards, indicating the activities in which any portion of the unit had been engaged." Filmed by the National Archives, series M270, 580 rolls. FHL has complete set, beginning with FHL film #821768. See also Confederate Soldiers Service Records, a register compiled by Beth B. Workman for the Family History Library, 1969, filmed on 1 roll, FHL film #599499. Another filming, FHL film #908646.

4. Index to Compiled Service Records of Confederate Soldiers Who Served in Organizations from the State of North Carolina, microfilm of original records at the National Archives, Washington, DC. North Carolina supplied over 197,000 soldiers to Confederate units during the Civil War. This index is a list of the names as prepared on the General Index Cards. Filmed by the National Archives, series M2770, 43 rolls. FHL has complete set, beginning with FHL film #821768 (surnames A – At). This is the same list of names now online at the National Park Service website at www.civilwar.nps.gov/cwss/.

5. Compiled Service Records of Volunteer Union Soldiers Who Served in Organizations From the State of North Carolina, microfilm of original records at the National Archives, Washington, DC. Filmed by the National Archives, series M401, 25 rolls. FHL has complete set, beginning with FHL film #1473248 (1st Infantry, A-Bl).

6. Index to Compiled Service Records of Volunteer Union Soldiers Who Served in Organizations From the State of North Carolina, microfilm of original records at the National Archives, Washington, DC. Over 5,000 Union soldiers were drawn from North Carolina. Filmed by the National Archives, series M391, 2 rolls. FHL has both rolls as FHL film #881590 (Index, A-L) and FHL film #881591 (Index Le-Z). This is the same list of names now online at the National Park Service website at www.civilwar.nps.gov/cwss/.

7. Histories of the Several Regiments and Battalions From North Carolina in the Great War 1861-1865, written by members of the respective commands; edited by Walter Clark, Published by the state, 1901, 5 vols. Filmed by Microfilming Corp. of America, Sanford, NC, 1983, 48 microfiches. FHL has series cataloged as FHL fiche #6052205. All five volumes are indexed in Clark 's Regiments, an Extended Index: to the Histories of the Several Regiments and Battalions From North Carolina in the Great War, 1861-1865, by Charles C. Davis, published by Pelican Pub., Gretna, LA, 2001, 506 pages. FHL book 975.6 M2hs.

8. Confederate Service Record, Out of State, North Carolina, 1861-1865, microfilm of originals in the Alabama Department of Archives and History in Montgomery, Alabama. This is an alphabetical listing of persons who served in Alabama from out of state. Information was compiled by the Alabama Department of Archives and History from various sources. Filmed by the Genealogical Society of Utah, 1987, 1 roll, FHL film #1411532 (North Carolina list is item 12).

9. Muster rolls and Lists of Confederate Troops Paroled in North Carolina, 1862-1865, introduction compiled by Claire Prechtel-Kluskens and Karen Martinson, microfilm of original records at the National Archives in Washington, DC. May include name, rank, unit, witness, place of parole, and other remarks. Includes list of military units for each parole locality. Filmed by the National Archives, 1995, 7 rolls. FHL has entire series, beginning with FHL film #2155455 (Places of parole: Albemarle, Bunn's House, Charlotte, Ft. Macon, Goldsboro).

10. North Carolina, Civil War Amnesty Papers, compiled by Sandra Lee Almasy, published by Kensington Glen Pub., Middleton, WI, 1999, 12 vols. Includes indexes to amnesty files, general, location and ship & troops, extracted from the North Carolina section of the records at the National Archives (filmed on 72 rolls, see Part 1, National Confederate Lists). Contents: vol. 1: Beaufort, Bertie, Camden, Carteret, Chowan, Craven, Currituck, Dare, Gates, Hertford, Hyde, Martin, Northampton, Pamlico, Pasquotank, Perquimans, Tyrrell, and Washington counties; vol. 2: Brunswick, Columbus, Duplin, Jones, Lenoir, New Hanover, Onslow, Pender counties; vol. 3: Edgecombe, Greene, Halifax, Nash, Pitt, Wilson counties; vol. 4: Bladen, Cumberland, Hoke, Johnston, Robeson, Sampson, Wayne counties; vol. 5: Durham, Orange, Wake counties; vol. 6. Caswell, Franklin, Granville, Person, Vance, Warren counties; vol. 7: Alamance, Chatham, Harnett, Lee, Montgomery, Moore, Richmond, Scotland counties; vol. 8: Forsyth, Guilford, Randolph, Rockingham, Stokes counties; vol. 9: Alexander, Alleghany, Ashe, Catawba, Davie, Iredell, Surry, Wilkes, Yadkin counties; vol. 10: Anson, Cabarrus, Davidson, Rowan, Stanly, Union counties; vol. 11: Burke, Caldwell, Cleveland, Gaston, Lincoln, Mecklenburg, Watauga counties; vol. 12: Avery, Buncombe, Cherokee, Clay, Graham, Haywood, Henderson, Jackson, Macon, Madison, McDowell, Mitchell, Polk, Rutherford, Swain, Transylvania, Yancey counties. FHL book 975.6 M2as v. 1-12.

11. North Carolina Petitions for Presidential Pardon 1865-1868 (an index), compiled by Russell S. Koonts, published 1996, 76 pages. An index to the petitions from some 2,000 North Carolinians who were excluded from the general amnesty proclamations of May 29, 1865. FHL book 975.6 M2kr.

12. Applications for Confederate Soldier's and Widow's Pensions, 1885-1953, microfilm of original records at the North Carolina State Archives, Raleigh, NC. The names found in the various files and indexes are in alphabetical order by the veterans' last name. The pension applications are in three files: (1) 1885-1901; (2) after 1901; and, (3) some "after 1901" material that belongs in the 1885- 1901 file.

    The dates indicated for each item are not always reliable. For this reason, the archive staff has been removing "After 1901" material that belongs in the earlier file. Also, the earlier file contains a small a mount of material created prior to 1885. Indexes for each of the file sets are found on the first roll in the series (FHL film #175779); and the last roll (FHL film #1547723). Filmed by the Genealogical Society of Utah, 1958, 1988, 105 rolls, applications beginning with FHL film #1535033 (Abbott, Macon – Blackwood, John).

13. Internal Revenue Assessment List for North Carolina, 1864-1866, microfilm of original records at the National Archives, Washington, DC. Contains information for the following districts: DISTRICT 1: Beaufort, Bertie, Camden, Chowan, Currituck, Gates, Halifax, Hertford, Hyde, Martin, Northampton, Pasquotank, Perquimans, Tyrrell, and Washington counties; DISTRICT 2: Carteret, Craven, Duplin, Edgecombe, Greene, Jones, Lenoir, New Hanover, Onslow, Pitt, Wayne, and Wilson counties; DISTRICT 3: Anson, Bladen, Brunswick, Columbus, Cumberland, Harnett, Montgomery, Moore, Richmond, Robeson, Sampson, and Stanly counties; DISTRICT 4: Chatham, Franklin, Granville, Johnston, Nash, Orange, Wake, and Warren counties; DISTRICT 5: Alamance, Caswell, Davidson, Forsyth, Guilford, Person, Randolph, Rockingham, Stokes, and Surry counties; DISTRICT 6: Alexander, Cabarrus, Catawba, Davie, Gaston, Iredell, Lincoln, Mecklenburg, Rowan, Union, Wilkes, and Yadkin counties; DISTRICT 7: Alleghany, Ashe, Buncombe, Burke, Caldwell, Cherokee, Clay, Cleveland, Haywood, Henderson, Jackson, Macon, Madison, McDowell, Mitchell, Polk, Rutherford, Transylvania, Watauga, and Yancey counties. Filmed by the Genealogical Society of Utah, 1988, 2 rolls, FHL film #1578467-1578468.

14. North Carolina Extant Voter Registrations of 1867, compiled by Frances Holloway Wynne, published by Heritage Books, Bowie, MD, 1992, 278 pages. Includes index. "All known voter lists for 1867... The counties are: Carteret, Chowan, Clay, Cleveland, Craven, Cumberland, Currituck, Davidson, Duplin, Edgecombe, Franklin, Gaston, Granville, Guilford, Hyde, Onslow, and Wake. All males twenty-one years old or older, who had been in the precinct a year or more,were to register; each was to sign an oath of allegiance and assure that he had not given aid to the enemy, i.e., the Confederate government. Blacks, many of whom were former slaves, were included in these lists. Names are alphabetically arranged by surnames. Data includes acceptance or rejection (and if so, why), county and township, and color. Appendices cover such items as a listing of counties and voting precincts, and population comparisons of free blacks and whites from the 1860 and 1870 federal censuses." back cover. FHL book 975.6 N4w.

[Note from the author: "I'm sure there have been changes! You might note that in many KY Circuit Court offices that the older documents are no longer in house but have been sent to the State of Kentucky Department of Archives and Libraries in Frankfort, KY. I'm not sure if all have but I know a large majority has. I have about 380 books for sale, which can be purchased through my website: http://ggpublishing.tripod.com/. I also do paid research in Barren County, Kentucky, with 37 years experience!"]

[Note from Debbi Blake, North Carolina State Archives: The article itself is fine but I think it may need to be pointed out to the readership that North Carolina's courthouses may or may not have records like the ones in KY. Many of the records in the list, NC also has but they are known by a different name and some of the things we don't even have. Much of what is on the list, that we have, has been transferred here to the Archives and is no longer in the courthouse. A lot will depend on the schedule under which that county is working as to whether it will be here or in the county. I would just caution readers that all states, and even all counties, are not equal in terms of their records.]

When I first walked into a Courthouse as a researcher, I didn't know which way to turn first! Will this book help me; does it have genealogical information? In each state, the names of county record books vary, and this will be a list of what they are commonly known as in Kentucky and what they contain. I cannot guarantee that every book is available in every county; I'll start posting that later!

ADMINISTRATOR APPOINTMENT BOOKS: This is a list of the administrators named to handle the estates of those dying intestate (without a will). It shows the court term when they were appointed, name of administrator, name of the estate (who died), label of the order book and page number, and any attestments of the County Clerk.

ADMINISTRATOR'S BOND BOOKS: This is a record of bonds made by the Administrators of personal property of those dying intestate. It gives the names of the sureties, name of the administrator, signatures of the sureties, and attestments of the County Clerk.

APPRAISER'S APPOINTMENT: Includes court orders appointing appraisers to go on the estate of the deceased and place a value on real and personal estate. Shows date (monthly term of the court), names of the appraisers, and names of estate.

APPRENTICESHIP BOOK: This was the binding of a person, or an indenture, to serve another person for a specified time to learn and art or trade. Gives dates of the indenture, name of the apprentice, apprentice's father, person to whom apprenticed, terms, witnesses signatures, and acknowledgements. Many times, it will show age or date of birth of apprenticed and to what trade apprenticed.

BASTARD(Y) BOND: An agreement or covenant made to the Commissioner of Kentucky by an unmarried woman who has given birth to a bastard child which secured a warrant for the father of the child to be brought before the Court to be dealt with (child support, etc.).

BASTARDY WARRANTS BOOK: This is a document giving a county officer the authority to bring in the father of an illegitimate child; includes the statement of the affiant, name of the accused father, residence of the affiant and defendant, birth date of the child, and attestments.

CENSUS REPORT OF SCHOOL CHILDREN: Submitted annually, this records the names of school children showing district number, parents/guardian, child's name, how many students, sex, age, and certifications.

CERTIFICATION OF LOCATION: A report which shows county and state, date, name of man making a claim, purpose for which claim was made, land claimed, boundaries and descriptions of land. This was normally given to early settlers in the county.

CHATTEL MORTGAGE RECORDS: Mortgage on personal property, seldom on land. Names of grantor and grantee, date, obligation, description of each article, signatures, certifications, and date of recording.

COMMISSIONERS DEED BOOKS: This is the recording of deeds conveyed to the Master Commissioner reference Chancery (Equity) proceedings. Names of grantor/grantee, terms, Master Commissioner's report, description of land, any restrictions, and signatures.

COMMISSIONER'S REPORTS: Records the Commissioners proceedings when ordered by the Circuit Court. Gives order, names to whom allotments are made, survey date, description of allotments, map of the plot, costs, dates, and signatures.

COMMONWEALTH ORDER BOOK: (Circuit Clerk's office normally). Transcription of orders in Commonwealth (State) cases which were tried before the Circuit Court. Date, number and nature of the order, names of plaintiff/defendant, and disposition of the order. You will find these dealing primarily with concealed weapons, grand larceny, whiskey sales, bail bonds, disturbing religious services, lunatics, rape, burglary, selling/giving whiskey to a minor, horse stealing, and murder.

COUNTY CLERK CASH BOOK: Dates of collections made, from whom received, name of account, kind of tax, license, or commissions and fees.

COUNTY COURT CLERK'S REPORT BOOKS: Record of sales of licenses in monthly reports. Shows date of meeting, name of Clerk, how many days in each report, amount collected, and certification.

COUNTY COURT ORDER BOOKS: Rulings and proceedings of the County Clerk. Court term, date, presiding judge, orders and proceedings, date of adjournment, and signature. Very important book. Can include mill viewings, naturalizations, tax waivers, patents, and power of attorneys … find this book!

DEED BOOKS: This is where the land deeds are recorded, transferring title of real estate from one to another. Name of grantors and grantees, how secured, reservations of property not transferred, copy of grantor's signature, acknowledgements before Notary, and date recorded.

DOCKET BOOK: Cases to be tried. Shows current standing or previous rulings in this case, plaintiff's attorney, defendant's attorney, parties involved in the case, and actions.

EXECUTOR APPOINTMENTS: Court orders where an Executor is appointed to handle the settlement of the estate of one who has died with a will. Date, court term, executor's name, deceased's name, and attestations.

EXECUTORS BOND BOOKS: Recording of the bonds required for an Executor. Name of executor, name of estate (deceased individual), sureties, terms, dates, and signatures.

FIDUCIARIES LIST: Similar to a trustee. A book showing the name of the fiduciary, the deceased, and any heirs.

GUARDIAN APPOINTMENT BOOK: The court orders in the appointment of guardians for a ward/wards. Court term, name of guardian, name of the ward, age of ward, and attestments by County Clerk.

GUARDIAN BOND BOOKS: Recording of the Guardian bonds, name of guardian and minor, principle required, sureties, date, signatures of sureties, and County attestments.

INQUESTS BOOK: Official investigation before a jury showing state and county, date, coroner's name, deceased's name, oath of jury, jurymen's names, verdict as to cause of death, signatures, and three witnesses.

INVENTORIES AND APPRAISEMENTS/SALE BILL BOOKS: Records the inventories and appraisements of personal property. Shows date, name of owners, kind of property, buyers, appraisers, and dates.

LAND ENTRIES: Shows name of person, who made the entry, number of acres, description. In our county, these were found on almost 1,000 pieces of paper about the size of small "stickem" note, crammed in the back of a file cabinet!

LAND WARRANT BOOK: Shows land warrants, receipt of purchase of land, buyer's name, date of warrant, and signatures.

LIS PENDENS BOOKS: Actions filed which would affect title to some property subject to the rights of the plaintiff. Shows plaintiffs/defendants names, date, action, location and description of land, signature, and attestations.

LIST OF NON-RESIDENT LAND BOOK: People living outside of the county who own land within the county. Owner's name, date, book recorded in, acres, value, number of district, when transferred or sold. In this county, again on pieces of paper.

MISCELLANEOUS RECORD BOOK: Sometimes contain powers of attorney, nullification of same, mortgages, articles of incorporation, chattel mortgages, etc.

MORTGAGE BOOKS: Putting up property as security for payment of debt. Became void if payment was made. Date of mortgage, mortgagor, mortgagee, amount, nature of indebtedness, description of each article, and signatures. With many early bank failures in KY, this happened quite often.

NATURALIZATION PAPERS/BOOKS: Shows intent and acceptance of foreigners becoming citizens of the US. Name of applicant, oath, date of entry into US, place of former residence, obeyance of rules and regulations, and date of acceptance.

NOTE RELEASES: Articles released. Why and what released, witnesses, releasor, and attestments.

PROBATE ORDERS: Appointment of Fiduciaries/trustee. Orders appointing appraisers, administrators, guardians, executors, dates of appointment, and who appointed.

PROCESSIONERS REPORT BOOK. This was a man/men who determined the boundaries of land in dispute. Affidavits were taken of the parties concerned, shows plats of the land, description of land, taxes, and court fees … an excellent source.

RECAPITULATION OF TAXES: This is the Sheriff's enumeration of all the real, tangible property that is listed as taxable for the county. It will show the date, taxpayer's name, district number, name of the nearest resident, number of acres per tract, total acreage, value of all minerals, improvements, timber, town lots, and value of personal property.

RECORD OF INQUEST BOOK: Official investigations by juries listing people with "unsound minds." Name of presiding judge, date, person examined, attorney's name, attorney for defendant, juror's names, description of the defendant, and signatures (copy).

ROAD ORDER BOOK: Lists the rulings of the County Court regarding the establishment of new roads, abandonments of existing roads, improvements to existing roads, and changing of courses of roads. Gives location of road and, many times, people living along that road who were appointed as surveyors or helpers.

SALE BILLS: Articles and selling price, purchaser's name, date of sale, owner, and signatures.

SETTLEMENT BOOK: Records settlements made by the Administrator of an individual dying without will, includes heirs, date of settlement, and amount.

SHERIFF'S LAND SOLD FOR TAXES BOOK: This was land sold by the sheriff for non-payment of taxes. Shows total taxes, any penalties imposed, name of land owner, animals, values, and acknowledgements.

STRAYS BOOK: Stray animals found by people. Shows name of person who found the animal, description of same, value, how long kept, dates, and acknowledgements.

WILL BOOKS: A copy of the original will. Gives names of deceased, date, his provisions, copy of signatures, certifications, and attestations.

AYCOCK-ROWLAND DATA

Submitted by Ann Brosnahan

Wake County, NC - Obituary of
George Griffin AYCOCK and his wife Holland Annie ROSE AYCOCK. 1900.
Published in the News and Observer, Raleigh, NC, Friday Morning, April 20, 1900

HUSBAND AND WIFE JOINED
Mr. AYCOCK and His Wife Die in Two Days of Each Other.

News has reached Raleigh of two very sad deaths which have recently taken place in this vicinity. A husband, who died last Tuesday night, only preceded his wife in the grave one day, she on yesterday afternoon having joined her husband in the spirit land.

The man who died was Mr. AYCOCK of Walnut Creek. Mr. AYCOCK died last Tuesday night from grip and was buried Wednesday afternoon. On yesterday afternoon his wife also died and will be buried today.

Mr. AYCOCK was a farmer and had been living for the past two years or more on a farm belonging to Mr. Newt. ROWLINGS of this county. Mr. AYCOCK had leased the farm upon which he worked from *Mr. ROWLINGS for a period of five years and was this year preparing to run a three-horse farm. Nearly two years of his lease remain unexpired.

His wife, who had been in feeble health for some time did not long have to bear the pain of separation. She was an estimable woman and was faithful in her duties and attentive to comforts of those whom she loved. She was about fifty years of age at the time of her death and her husband was about fifty five.

Mr. AYCOCK was very substantial and thorough going man. He was a skilful farmer and never failed to make good crops. He was known especially for his honesty and his energy. He was a hard worker and always made good his work and was also a good manager. A man with who he has had repeated business transactions says that he never knew him to fail to come up to his promises. They have several children all of who are grown or nearly so and two of whom are said to live in Raleigh. Mr. AYCOCK was buried Wednesday on the *Rowlings place. His wife will be placed by him today.

From the News & Observer website: Ann BROSNAHAN's family cemetery dates back to the years prior to the Civil War. Located outside the gated community of Olde Raleigh at the intersection of Duraleigh Road and Burwell Rollins Circle she has managed to save and preserve the cemetery.

Surnames that we know that are buried in this cemetery: BEASLEY, CHRISTENBURY, FINCH, JONES, PLEASANTS, POLLARD, MAYNARD, SPIKES and WATKINS.

The cemetery is located on Duraleigh Rd. (SR 1664) at the intersection of Burwell Rollins Circle, the entrance to 'Olde Raleigh' Subdivision, about ½ mile north of the intersection of Duraleigh Rd. and Edward's Mill Rd. (SR 3009). It is barely visible from the road, with a fine brick wall shielding it from view. You can park in the small courtyard in front of the guard house. It contains .09 acre and is no longer in use. Ann BROSNAHAN, BROZYMOM@aol.com, a direct descendant of the interred, has gained ownership of the cemetery and is restoring it. Permission to enter the cemetery is required.

HEART OF APEX SWEPT BY FIRE

The Total Loss is Estimated to be From $15,000 to $60,000
The Insurance $21,000
Reprinted by Permission of Denise Rogers, News and Observer

Nine Buildings, Including Merchant and Farmers Bank, are Totally Destroyed by Fire–All Contained Business Enterprises, Except One, This Being the Residence of Postmaster Hudson–Citizens Awakened Early Yesterday Morning to Find Heart of Town in Grip of Fire–-Raleigh Department Summoned, But No Water Supply Available–Origin of Fire Unknown–Town Will Be Rebuilt.

(Staff Correspondence.)

Apex, June 12 [1911].—Awakened by the screaming of a locomotive whistle, the population of Apex turned out this morning at 1:30 o'clock to find the heart of the town in the grip of a destructive fire. From windows and doors flames belched forth, to be caught up by the wind and borne onward in their mad pursuit. Buildings yielded, reeled and fell into ruins, while citizens stood by, helpless to check the flames with buckets of water, the only means at their disposal.

Copyright © 2008 Wake County Genealogical Society

There were nine buildings totally destroyed and the total loss by the fire is estimated from $50,000 to $60,000, while the insurance on the destroyed property was only $21,000. Of the nine buildings destroyed eight were occupied by business enterprises, while one was the beautiful residence of Postmaster S. V. HUDSON. Besides these, other buildings were damaged by the flames and much property was injured.

The Origin of the Fire Unknown.

The origin of the fire is unknown. It is supposed to have started in the room of Mr. J. W. JENKS, who ran a butcher shop in a building on the corner of Salem and Chatham streets, owned by the Apex Land and Improvement Company. It is believed by some that the fire was started by matches ignited by rats, while others advance the theory that it was due to a cigar or cigarette stump. So far there is no conclusive evidence of any means by which the fire may have started. Several representative citizens were questioned today as to the probability of the fire's having been started by an incendiary, but all stated that they did not believe there was any foul play connected with it. An investigation, however, will be made by the authorities.

Beyond Control When Discovered.

The fire is supposed to have started about 1:15 o'clock this morning and was beyond control when the citizens were awakened at 1:30 o'clock by the whistle of the engine of a Seaboard Air Line train. The engineer, seeing the flames, blew the whistle long and loud in order to wake up the townspeople.

Citizens Turn Out With Buckets.

When the citizenship turned out a desperate effort was made to check the flames and all worked like Trojans with buckets of water, but this did little or no good. A phone message was sent to Raleigh and Chief LUMSDEN made preparations to have the Raleigh fire department come out, but it was learned that there were no means of securing water with which to fight the fire. Chief LUMSDEN, however, came to the scene in his automobile, reaching here about four o'clock.

Fire Spreads Rapidly.

Consuming the frame building in which it originated, the fire swept on to Mr. B. H. PATE's building, next door, in which was located a barber shop; then to the Apex Bottling Works, and on to Mr. W. H. HARWARD's general store, across the street. Mr. R. J. BOLLING's grocery store was the next to catch after which the flames spread to Mr. A. V. BAUCOM's drug store, then to the Merchants' and Farmers' bank, which was a two story brick building. The vaults containing between five and six thousand dollars in cash were removed from the burning building and taken to the building of the Apex Mule and Supply Company, where the bank resumed business today with Mr. J. R. CUNNINGHAM as cashier.

H. C. OLIVE Co.'s general mercantile store was the next to catch on fire, then Mr. B. V. HUDSON's residence across the street. Mr. Hudson managed to save most of his furniture.

All these buildings were totally destroyed, while the fire injured several other buildings.

Summary of Loss in Buildings and Stock.

When seen this afternoon several of the leading citizens estimated the loss as being:

Building of Apex Land and Improvement Company, $2,500; $760 insurance.
B. H. PATE's building $1,000; no insurance.
Apex Bottling Works, $1,000; no insurance.
W. H. HARWARD's general store, $15,000; $7,800 insurance.
R. J. BOLLING's store, $1,500; $800 insurance.
A. V. BAUCOM's drug store, $8,000; $5,400 insurance.
Merchants' and Farmers' Bank, $2,000; $1,400 insurance.
H. C. OLIVE Co.'s store, $7,500; $4,500 insurance.
S. V. HUDSON's residence, $1,200; $800 insurance.

Other Damage by the Fire.

Besides the above there was considerable other damage done by the destructive fire. The stock of Pate and Company was damaged to the extent of $1,760[?], while that of the Watkins-Seymour Hardware Company was damaged to the extent of $5,000. Mr. S. T. BENNETT's stock was damaged by $1,000, the loss being covered by insurance.

The handsome two-story brick building of SELLARS & MASON was damaged to the extent of $1,000.

The library of Attorney Percy J. OLIVE was totally destroyed, the loss amounting to $1,500, there being about $750 insurance. The fixtures in the office of Drs. R. W. JOHNSON and J. C. MANN, valued at several hundred dollars were destroyed, the amount being half covered with insurance.

Mr. Percy J. OLIVE's automobile was burned, also the shed in which it was kept, the loss amounting to $800.

The Seaboard Airline water tank was also burned.

The Whole Town Threatened.

For a time early this morning it looked like the whole town was going to be swept away by the flames, but the fire was gotten under control about four o'clock.

Three Injured Slightly.

One remarkable fact is that no one was seriously injured during the conflagration. Three, however, were slightly inured [sic] by falling buckets and glass, these being Mr. Harvey Mckee, Mr. Jesse NORRIS and Rev. J. H. EDWARDS.

Town Records Safe.

The town records were kept in a safe in the store of H. C. OLIVE & Co., Mr. L. S. OLIVE being one of the commissioners. The safe was removed, but had not been opened this afternoon. In fact there were numbers of safes strewn about the streets.

Some of the stores destroyed were most up to date and carried big lines of goods, all of which were destroyed.

Desolate Scene.

This afternoon Salem street presented a desolate scene, the destructive fire having dug a huge hole in the very heart of the town. Groups of men stood here and there, discussing the town's loss. The street was strewn with remnants of burned fixtures and fragments of property that had been in the destroyed buildings. Few walls were left standing, as all of the buildings except the bank building and that occupied by Baucom's drug store were of wood. Here and there the fire still burned, while smoke rose from the ruins. In the street lay telephone wires, the poles having been burned down.

Will Rebuild Many Buildings.

Undaunted by their loss, the business men of Apex will proceed at once, it is said, to rebuild the business section of the city. Many new and better buildings will be erected in the place of those destroyed by the fire. The Merchants and Farmers Bank will at once erect a new building and erelong the town will again take on that progressive spirit which has marked it in the past.

A Progressive Town.

With a population of about 1,500 and situated in Wake county, fifteen miles southwest of Raleigh, Apex is a wide-awake place and very accessible, being on the main line of the Seaboard Air Line and the Durham and Southern. The town is full of progressive people, and it is the commercial centre of the community, with a great future before it. The location is ideal and the town gets its name from its location, being situated on an "apex" sure enough it is high and has good drainage. No doubt the progressive citizens will get together in the near future and have a water supply constructed. One gentleman said today "the loss was enough to build a modern water works for our town."

A Glimpse of New Apex.

The representative of the News and Observer went this afternoon over the residence section of the town. Everywhere were seen plans of progress. Situated in the residence section of the town there is a modern brick graded school surrounded by dwelling houses of modern type. The town is well laid off and has many streets and ideal housing lots. Truly, there is a great future before Wake count's little town of Apex.

PROFILE OF JOHN HINTON

OF all the patriots who lived in Wake County during the Revolution, probably the most distinguished, both as a soldier and statesman, was Colonel John HINTON, who was a native of the precinct of Chowan, where his father, also named John HINTON, resided, his home being in that part of Chowan which is now Gates County.

It was about the year 1750 that John HINTON, then in the prime vigor of manhood, first came to Johnston County. The part of Johnston in which he settled was severed in 1771 and (with parts of the counties of Orange and Cumberland) erected into the county of Wake. In 1768, when the trouble with the Regulators was in its early stages, John Hinton, then a major of Johnston County troops, went to Hillsboro to confer with Governor TRYON as to the best means of quieting the disturbances. The efforts to quell the insurrection by peaceable means having failed, TRYON raised an army in the spring of 1771, and after scattering the Regulators at the battle of Alamance on May 16th, put an end to the revolt. In Tryon's army Hinton was one of the most trusted officers, being colonel of the Wake County detachment, and he behaved with distinguished bravery in the battle.

In the war of the Revolution Colonel HINTON's efforts in the cause of the colonies began early. He represented Wake County in the second independent Provincial Congress of North Carolina, which met at New-Bern on the 3d of April, 1775. At Hillsboro, in the following August, he sat in another Congress of like character. On September 9th the Hillsbaro Congress elected him colonel of the troops of Wake County and member of the Committee of Safety for the Hillsboro District, of which district Wake formed a part. In the Provincial Congress at Halifax, in April, 1776, he was once more a delegate. He was also a justice of the Court of Pleas and Quarter Sessions for Wake County.

At the battle of Moore's Creek Bridge, on February 27th, 1776, Colonel HINTON was present, and there the same courageous spirit marked his conduct as at Alamance.

The death of Colonel HINTON occurred in the spring of 1784. His wife was Grizelle KIMBROUGH, and by her he left many descendants. In the South Atlantic Quarterly (Durham, North Carolina) for April, 1902, there is an account of the life of Colonel HINTON written by Miss Mary Hilliard HINTON, one of his descendants. In that sketch will be found many interesting incidents in his life and career, an account of his family and also a list of his children. Two of his sons were Revolutionary officers.

WAKE COUNTY COURT PAPERS

UNC-CH, Willis G. BRIGGS Collection #3077

By Diane L. Richard[1]

While doing research in this collection[2] at UNC for select family documents, I stumbled across a collection of Wake County Court Documents. Most of these do not seem to have relevance to the BRIGGS family, from whose collection they come, though they are relevant to those researching ancestors in Wake County.

As described by paperwork found in folder #85.

> Wake County Court Papers, 1807-1848, and undated
> Summonses, bills, writs, depositions, bonds and other items relating to matters before the court of Pleas and Quarter Sessions and Superior Court, having no apparent relationship to the main series of family papers.

CORONER.

The 38th section of the constitution directs that there shall be a sheriff, coroner or coroners, and constables in each county in the state.

The county court, in each county, shall appoint two or more coroners within their county, where they think more than one necessary.

He shall execute all process civil and criminal, lawfully issuing, or judgments, orders, or sentences of any court within his county, where there is no sheriff; and be under the same rules and regulations, and subject to the same fines and forfeitures as sheriffs are by law, for neglect or disobedience of the duties aforesaid.

The coroner or coroners of any county, where there is no sheriff properly qualified to act, may hold the election for members of assembly; and shall give lists of the votes, and the number of ticket ballots, signed by him as sheriff; and shall do it under the same penalties.

He is chosen for life; but may be removed by being made sheriff; which is incompatible with the other.

In 1830 Jordan WOMBLE had opened his grocery store on Hargett Street, which he conducted until a few years before his death, which occurred in 1891. He left many descendants, most of whom live in Raleigh. His eldest son, Jordan, was one of the most devout Christians and exemplary citizens that has ever lived in Raleigh, and his influence for good was incalculable. He was the father of Mr. John T. WOMBLE, the popular and polite salesman at Dobbin & Ferral's dry-goods store.

[16] There is this interesting note found in Historical Raleigh: With Sketches of Wake County http://books.google.com/books?id=jbk72zTU6bYC, pg 95 … "The butchers doing business at the old market house were Eldredge SMITH, J. J. CHRISTOPHERS, and Shadrach WEDDON. It is stated on the authority of one of the older inhabitants that the demand for fresh beef was so meager and the population so small that before the slaughtering of any animals was undertaken the butchers would from time to time call on the people and take their orders, that the former might accommodate the supply of fresh meats to the demand. Eldredge Smith was the father-in-law of the late John Henry BONER, North Carolina's distinguished poet, who married Charlotte, Mr. $'s second daughter. Mrs. BONER is still living, a resident of Winston, NC."

Pl receives custody of children and she may resume maiden name of CHALMERS.

STRICKLAND, Sarah J. v. Nathan STRICKLAND
The marriage was dissolved in the Fall Term of Superior Court, 1847. The Pl married the Def in Wake County 1 January 1844 by the Baptist minister John F. ELLINGTON. A deposition by Calvin R. AVERY indicates he was a witness to the marriage and she is the daughter of Bradford UTLEY. Statement of Pl indicates the marriage was never consummated and that on her wedding night he told her he had venereal disease and expected to her to have intercourse every other day with another man with whom he had agreed to swap wives. She said she learned, contrary to what she had been told by him prior to the marriage, he had no property in either Wayne or Johnson Counties, and that he was a stage driver or keeper of stage horses. Prior to marriage he represented himself to be a moral man and attend church with her family, but was now abusive. Deposition of Young BOOKER and Nancy HERRING provide statement that Def committed adultery in Raleigh with said HERRING. Pl returned home. [File indicates Pl's middle name is Jane and she was about eighteen at time of marriage.]

EARLY HISTORY OF JOHNSTON COUNTY

Annals of Progress – The Story of Lenoir County and Kinston, North Carolina by William S. Powell
Submitted by Diane Richard

Johnston County

In 1746 from a part of Craven County a new county was formed and named Johnston in honor of Gabriel JOHNSTON, Governor of the Province. Johnston County included most of the territory now in Lenoir, Greene, Wayne, Wake, and, of course, Johnston counties.

The act of the General Assembly establishing Johnston County directed that the new county court meet "at the Dwelling-house of Francis STRINGER, at the Ferry, on Neuse River, and then and there nominate and appoint a certain place for building a court house, prison, and stocks at the most Proper Place in said County."

STRINGER's home and ferry were about two miles east of modern Kinston. County court was to meet on the last Tuesdays in March, June, September, and December each year. At the first sitting of the court, three persons were to be recommended to the Governor from whom he would select one to commission as sheriff.

The law establishing Johnston County also set up St. Patrick's Parish of the Church of England with the same boundaries as the County. Vestrymen were appointed to serve until the next general election. More than merely a governing body for a church, the vestry attended to the needs of poor widows and orphans and generally served as the local government's welfare agency.

The new County was allowed two representatives in the General Assembly.

At its first meeting the county court selected a site for the courthouse and other public buildings on the eastern bank of Walnut Creek about eight miles southeast of present-day Goldsboro and about 18 miles west of Kinston. The courthouse was completed sufficiently for holding court by June, 1748.

Ten years after Johnston County was formed the territory was divided into two parishes. Old St. Patrick's Parish remained in the eastern part of the County and new St. Stephen's Parish was in the west. Voters of the new parish were to meet at the courthouse at Walnut Creek to elect vestrymen while those of St. Patrick's met at Samuel SMITH's on Neuse River in the vicinity of modern Smithfield. This move was the first of several which resulted in the division of the large county of Johnston into several others, one of which became Lenoir.

The selection of Walnut Creek as the county seat for Johnston County does not appear to have been a wise one. It was too remote and inaccessible. It lacked both inns and good camping grounds which had been available at Stringer's Ferry. People doing business at the county seat often had to remain several days. The courthouse was the only voting place in the County. Because of the distance many voters had to travel to cast their ballots, it became necessary to allow two days for an election. County court sessions in those days, before county fairs and circuses were known, were important social occasions which attracted a great many people. Even with all its drawbacks, Walnut Creek remained the seat of Johnston County until Dobbs County was formed in 1759, and then it became the seat of that county.

Stringer's Ferry

All the time the people were suffering the inconveniences of the county seat, the area around Stringer's Ferry continued to attract new settlers. Only two miles from the site of modern Kinston, it proved to be a center of religious, political, and economic growth during the eighteenth century. Francis STRINGER, who began operating the ferry across the Neuse River here in 1737, was probably the first physician along this remote frontier. He had learned his skills at healing from his father and was the fourth generation of doctors in his family. STRINGER was also a justice of the peace, a member of the General Assembly, and leading citizen of the community. It was not at all unusual in those days to find men who were outstanding in a number of activities. With a wilderness to conquer they had to be good at a variety of trades, and they seldom even thought twice about undertaking to build a house, heal the sick, hunt a wild turkey or bear, or clear a patch of new ground for a cornfield.

Among Dr. STRINGER's neighbors were Abraham TAYLOR and John IRONS, both of whom also operated ferries across the Neuse, and James McILLWEAN who owned 400 acres of land next to STRINGER's.

Search for a Provincial Capital

In 1755 Governor Arthur DOBBS set out from New Bern on a trip up the Neuse River to look for a suitable site to establish a new seat of government for the province. North Carolina had never had a permanent capital. The offices of the Governor and other officials and all of the public records had been moved about from place to place as it suited the governor in office to establish his residence at some particular place. Some liked Edenton, some chose New Bern, and others thought Wilmington or Brunswick suitable.

DOBBS traveled about a hundred miles above New Bern and carefully looked over the whole region. He selected a spot of high ground near Stringer's Ferry as the most suitable place for the new colonial capital. It was on the north bank of the Neuse River which was dry and free from the usual swampy shores. It was a healthful site with good springs to supply water. It lay about 50 miles above New Bern on a stream which was navigable for 60 to 80 miles and yet not overflowing the country in "great freshes."

The Governor, in reporting to his superiors in England, pointed out the importance of this central location, that it lay on a good road to New Bern, and that it could be reached from the Cape Fear area with only one ferry to be crossed. He thought the public officers of the colony should all reside here and that the members of the Council should have houses here and live in the capital at least a part of each year. He expected "that the Assembly will proceed briskly in erecting public buildings and offices which have been so long unsettled that almost all the old records are lost."

To get on with the business of creating a capital, Governor DOBBS in 1758 bought two tracts of land totaling 850 acres and the site came to be called Tower Hill, no doubt in part for Tower Hill in London where the famous Tower of London has stood for hundreds of years but also for an "old redoubt tower" built here during the Tuscarora War. Perhaps to suggest more civilization than really existed on the frontier, the name of Contentnea Creek (an Indian name) was changed to Canterbury Creek. Needless to say, the new name never became popular. DOBBS's advisers in London suggested that he get the approval of the General Assembly first and then present the whole proposal to the British government for final authority to establish a capital town for North Carolina.

In 1758 the Assembly approved DOBBS' recommendation and provided that the town should be called George City for King George II. It was to be built on 400 acres of the land and the remaining 450 acres were to be a town common. A home for the governor and a state house were planned as the first projects. A committee was appointed to arrange for the construction of the buildings and to lay off streets and one-half acre lots for sale to purchasers who were to erect houses of a certain size within five years. The committee was not to begin work until it was known whether Parliament would repay North Carolina for certain expenses in the French and Indian War.

This far-sighted move was doomed, however. In spite of the attempt to honor the King by naming the city in his honor George III, who had succeeded his father in 1760, took no steps to approve the plans. In the colony the question of a location for the seat of government involved sectional interests and prestige.

The oldest settled area, the Albemarle region, had its own interests to promote. New Bern had often been the seat of government and after 1762 Governor Dobbs established himself at Wilmington. As a result, George Town failed to develop as the capital of North Carolina. Instead, the Assembly in 1762 petitioned the Crown to designate New Bern as the capital. After much debate, New Bern won in 1766 and Governor Tryon began the construction of his palace. Dobbs' will, probated in 1765, left the Tower Hill land to his son, and after the Revolution it was claimed by the State of North Carolina as having been the property of a Tory. Capital or not, the area around Tower Hill continued to grow, although the formal establishment of a town was some years away.

Dobbs County and the Establishment of Kingston

Dobbs County

In 1758 the General Assembly decided that Johnston County should be divided on April 10, 1759, to form a new county. This county was to be named Dobbs in honor of Governor Arthur DOBBS. Its boundaries were the same as those of St. Patrick's Parish when it had been in Johnston County. St. Patrick's now became the parish in the new county.

The Assembly, in setting up Dobbs County, took note of the fact that "the large extent of the county of Johnston renders it grievous and burthensome to many of the Inhabitants thereof to attend the Courts and General Musters, and other Public Meetings." This was not a problem of Johnston County alone, however. It was true in many parts of the colony, particularly along the frontier. Large counties were created, and as the population increased, they were cut up into smaller and more manageable ones.

Johnston County was given a new county seat at Hinton's Quarter on the south side of the Neuse, but Walnut Creek remained the official center of legal affairs for Dobbs County. The old Johnston County records were left in Dobbs County when the County began functioning in 1759. They were moved from Walnut Creek in 1779 when Kinston became the county seat. Modern Lenoir County, alone of the many counties created from the original Johnston County, can show historical continuity of records and county government functioning from 1746 to the present.

Soon after the new Dobbs County officers began their duties, the General Assembly established three tobacco inspection warehouses in the County. One was at Atkins Bank on the land of William HERITAGE, another at Contentnea Creek on the land of Abraham SHEPPARD, and a third at Fellow's Ferry on the land of Robert FELLOW. There were laws regulating the methods of packing tobacco for shipment and to prevent the sale of tobacco of inferior quality. Public warehouses, such as these, were established at various places throughout the colony, and unless tobacco received the approval of the inspectors, it could not be shipped out of the colony.

Establishment of Kingston

In December, 1762, the General Assembly passed an act to establish the town of Kingston on the land of William HERITAGE at Atkins Bank. The town was named to honor the young King George III who had ascended the throne just two years before. The name remained until 1784, after the Revolutionary War, when the "g" was dropped to show that the citizens of the town no longer desired to honor a king. The site was described as "a pleasant and healthy situation, and commodious for trade and commerce." HERITAGE consented to have 100 acres of his land laid off for a town and to devote 50 acres to a town common.

Commissioners appointed to design the town were also instructed to take "subscriptions" for numbered lots. When 50 lots were spoken for, they were to hold a drawing and lots were to be assigned according to the number drawn. In order to keep a lot, the owner was required to build a frame or brick house at least 16 feet square with a brick or stone chimney within three years. Lots drawn but not built upon within three years were to become the property of anyone who would build the required house. If an owner died before building his house and without making other provisions for its disposition, the lot was to become the property of William Heritage or his heirs.

Francis McILLWEAN was appointed treasurer of the new town of Kingston. If he should move from Dobbs County, the remaining commissioners were authorized to appoint another treasurer. "Until the town should be incorporated the commissioners were to appoint a replacement for any of their body who died, moved, or failed to serve."

Atkins Bank at which Kingston was established was not a village but merely the name applied to the bluff above the Neuse River because it was first granted to Robert ATKINS. The original commissioners do not appear to have lived within the proposed bounds of the town. All but one of them, however, owned large tracts of land nearby. A warehouse for the inspection of tobacco already existed at the site, and since about 1748 there had been a chapel there, a Church of England mission served by a traveling missionary from New Bern or perhaps Edenton.

The town was promptly laid out. The two principal streets were named for King George and Queen Charlotte. The boundary streets were named East, North, and South. On the west was the Neuse River. A street also was named in honor of Governor DOBBS, but it later became Independent Street. Others were named in honor of the original commissioners of the town.

The sale of lots seems to have gone slowly. By the end of 1763 only 19 had been taken.

Just two years after the establishment of Kingston, Richard CASWELL and Abraham SHEPPARD presented to the General Assembly a petition signed by a number of Dobbs County citizens urging that the new town be made the county seat "for the greater convenience of the people." A bill which was introduced for this purpose also provided that a portion of Craven County in the vicinity of Southwest Creek be added to Dobbs County. The change in boundaries was probably suggested to overcome the objections of some that Kingston would not otherwise be in the center of the County. Even with the support of the Craven County representative the whole bill was not passed. Only that part pertaining to the addition of a part of Craven to Dobbs was passed. The county seat was to remain at Walnut Creek. Efforts to revive the proposal for making Kingston the county seat failed at first.

The action of the General Assembly was not to the liking of a good many of the leading citizens of Dobbs County. They continued to acknowledge Walnut Creek as the official county seat, of course, but they began to hold court at whatever location in the County seemed convenient at the time.

Division of Dobbs County

Efforts to divide Dobbs County were made on a number of occasions between 1767 and 1779. Finally, in the latter year, the General Assembly appointed five men to run a north-south line through the middle of Dobbs County. The eastern half was to remain Dobbs while the western half was named Wayne County. The Dobbs County courthouse was now to be in Kingston, but until a building could be erected the county court was directed to meet in the house formerly occupied by Colonel James GLASGOW. A committee was promptly appointed to contract with workmen for the construction of a courthouse.

The following information is engraved on the marker standing at the former Dobbs County Court House site in the Walnut Creek area of Wayne County:

"Dobbs County Court House, 1758-1791; The Following Counties Were Formed From Dobbs: Greene (Formerly Glasgow) 1779, Wayne 1779, Lenoir 1791 - Erected By The Wayne County Colonial Dames of America 1935"

Wake County Genealogical Society, Inc. (WCGS) was organized in April 1982 to promote genealogical study and research, to serve as a medium of exchange of genealogical or historical information, to encourage the preservation of genealogical or historical records, to provide cultural, educational, and social opportunities involving genealogy. In 1983 WCGS was incorporated as a non-profit organization under the laws of the State of North Carolina.

Wake Treasures is the journal of the WCGS and is free to members. Semiannual issues are identified as Winter/Spring and Summer/Fall. Past issues of Wake Treasures are sold in volume sets. An order form is available on our website or can be requested via postal mail.

We endeavor to regularly publish primary source documents with historical or genealogical significance for Wake County, North Carolina. We will also publish primary source documents from related counties if there is no genealogical or historical society serving that county. We welcome articles about methodology and research experience as well as articles portraying Wake County residents, places, and events of the past. We seek a balance of time periods and hope to address the needs of both new and experienced genealogists.

Proposals and submissions may be sent by email or postal mail. References used to compile an article must be included. Depending on the nature of a submission, minor editing may be applied, but no substantive changes will be made. Errors in original documents that are transcribed should not be corrected, but notations may be made if they are clearly indicated.

Neither WCGS nor the Journal Committee shall be held responsible for the accuracy of submitted articles. This is the sole responsibility of the contributor. Documented content corrections that are submitted to the Editor will appear in a later issue.

Permission to reproduce or quote from an article published in any issu e of Wake Treasures must be obtained in writing from the author or authors. Write to the author in care of WCGS.
