Caption on back of photo: 'Wake County school children treated in the public school clinics conducted by the N.C. State Board of Health. A good exhibit of the type of portable equipment used in carrying on this work.' In 1917, George Cooper was appointed the Director of the N.C. State Board of Health's Bureau of Medical Inspection in Schools. The following year, he inaugurated the free dental clinic system for all school children in the state aged 6 to 12.

WAKE COUNTY GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC. (WCGS)

WCGS was organized in April 1982 to promote genealogical study and research, to serve as a medium of exchange of genealogical or historical information, to encourage the preservation of genealogical or historical records, to provide cultural, educational, and social opportunities involving genealogy. In 1983 WCGS was incorporated as a non-profit organization under the laws of the State of North Carolina.

Membership is open to anyone with an interest in the purposes of WCGS as stated above. The membership year is from September 1 through August 31. Annual dues are $20 for individuals and institutions and $25 for families (two people, related by blood or marriage, residing at the same address). A membership form is available on our website. Membership dues received after May 31 will apply to the following membership year.

BENEFITS OF MEMBERSHIP

Meetings

WCGS meetings are held on the fourth Tuesday of September, October, January, February, March, April, May, and June. The winter social meets in early December. Meetings are held at the Olivia Raney Library beginning at 7 pm, and visitors are always welcome. For current meeting topics and location, see our website, wakecogen.org.

Members may view and/or download from the website any handouts from general business meetings by using the current password. Back Issues of both the journal and the newsletter are available for download on the website using the current password. There is also a Subject Index for the journal available. It is updated annually.

Newsletter – WCGS Updates

The society's newsletter is published quarterly and is used to communicate current and relevant events of the society and other societies, libraries and classes that are available in the Wake County area. The newsletter archive is available here, http://wakecogen.org/fileDownload.php?sid=1.

The North Carolina Genealogical Society 2011 Award for Excellence in Periodical Publishing for a newsletter published by a local North Carolina genealogical society was presented to Roslyn Panichas, editor of WCGS Updates. This quarterly publication is never printed, but is delivered electronically as a Wake County Genealogical Society member benefit. Its editor provides useful and timely information to WCGS members and always has content that will be helpful and interesting to all readers. Giving notice of current and noteworthy events of the society and other societies, libraries, and classes in the Wake County area, the newsletter also presents good articles and is a treasure trove for genealogists who enjoy researching on their home computers.

Journal – Wake Treasures

We endeavor to regularly publish primary source documents with historical or genealogical significance for Wake County, North Carolina. We will also publish primary source documents from related counties if there is no genealogical or historical society serving that county. We welcome articles about methodology and research experience as well as articles portraying Wake County residents, places, and events of the past. We seek a balance of time periods and hope to address the needs of both new and experienced genealogists.

Members access the journal archives through the Members Area portal, http://wakecogen.org/members.php.

A FREE-to-anyone Topical Index of all issues of Wake Treasures is free and available for viewing or download on the website: http://wakecogen.org/cpage.php?pt=18

The North Carolina Genealogical Society 2011 Award for Excellence in Periodical Publishing for a journal published by a local North Carolina genealogical society was presented to Hope Blackford, editor of Wake Treasures. Two times each year since 2005, Hope Blackford, who is soon to retire as journal editor, has created issue after issue of a journal that is full of names, history, and useful information relating to Wake County genealogy. This journal is chock full of abstracts, articles, case studies, a variety of genealogical tidbits, and much more. The journal is very well documented with sources for each and every article and abstract and is every name indexed. Wake Treasures is available also as an electronic version, accessible as a WCGS member benefit.

Message From the Editor

By Diane L Richard
Editor, Wake Treasures

We are excited to once again bring you an edition of Wake Treasures which is chock full of interesting records documenting Wake County ancestors.

We continue with some series that we have been periodically publishing including early 19th century petitions, early 20th century voter registrations, court minutes (this time from the 1820s), late 18th century constable bonds, and death registers from the late 1890s.

Phil Upchurch again contributes an article about the Upchurch family, and Marie Cooke and Hope Blackford contributed several advertisements; always great for a look at life through the years.

The mentioned constable bonds are the product of some real-time transcribing that was done as a result of the Transcribers Training program held in April. We again thank those who turned out for the event, and we look forward to including more of the completed work in the next edition of the journal.

As always, please do consider volunteering some time to help with some documents recently acquired — Ferguson family ledger (1870s, probably Wake Forest area), John W. Harris ledger (Volume #1, 1820s, Wakefield), WWI Red Cross related documents, The Yarborough Hotel register, and by the time you read this, possibly some other neat collections!

To the Honorable the General Assembly of the State of North Carolina
The humble petition of the subscribers Inhabitants of Wake County shews.
That Dennis Bradly of the County of Wake was some time past convicted at the Court of Saliger for petit larceny.
That this conviction was had thirty six years ago; ever since which time we your petitioners have understood that he has behaved himself as a good, orderly citizen, and conducted himself as an honest man. That we have known him ourselves for a considerable length of time & do say that in our opinion
he highly deserves the rank in society which he held before said conviction.
That we deem him to be an object
worthy of Legislative interference.
We do therefore pray that

Most present day individuals interested in their heritage will find that the history books have overlooked what we would consider to be important contributions from our ancestors and relatives. While the historians did not set out to "do us in," the UPCHURCH family can rightfully feel that the full story of their contributions has not been told. In examining the UPCHURCH-MORING connection, we have the opportunity to partially set matters straight for some of the history bearing upon central North Carolina and especially as regards Wake County and the capital city of Raleigh. The photograph of Pattie Aline UPCHURCH MORING and her family serves as a good reference point for the undertaking.

Our story starts with William Clinton UPCHURCH I who was born 14 Feb 1813 in western Wake County near Green Level. He was one of nine sons of Burtis UPCHURCH and a grandson of Nathan UPCHURCH I, Revolutionary War Soldier and Head of Upchurch Clan No. 3. As soon as William reached adulthood in the 1830s, he cast his lot with the City of Raleigh which, while the capital of the state, was at the time in fact a mere village. There he became a prominent merchant, raised a family, and lived out his days. Many of his descendants made important contributions to the life of the community. In Raleigh in December 1840, William married Adeline Susan ROYSTER whose family was influential in the area. Here are some comments about some of their children:

- Daughter Roxanna Margaret UPCHURCH married William Henry DODD, the mayor of Raleigh. It was for him that the famous presently maintained DODD-HINSDALE house on Hillsboro Street in Raleigh was constructed. This couple was also influential in religious circles.
- Daughter Eleanor Marks UPCHURCH married her first cousin once removed William George UPCHURCH, son of Gilbert UPCHURCH and grandson of Nathan UPCHURCH I. This couple, Aunt "Mox" and Uncle "Bill" (he was your editor's great uncle), cut a wide swath in Raleigh in business and social circles. Uncle Bill had close business ties to the most influential people of the day and was personal secretary to newspaper owner, W. H. HOLDEN who was later to become reconstruction governor of North Carolina.
- Son Charles D. UPCHURCH was Clerk of the Superior Court.

Copyright© 2016, All Rights Reserved – Wake County Genealogical Society, Inc.

- Daughter Florence Caroline UPCHURCH married John Ceburn Logan HARRIS, Sr., a prominent lawyer and judge on the local scene. The children and grandchildren of this couple have gone on to great accomplishments.
- Son John William UPCHURCH, Sr., married Eldora Kendall WRIGHT, the daughter of a prominent educator. They had ten children who have given good account themselves. While some of the children of William Clinton UPCHURCH I may have had a serious attitude, it seems well established that Cousin John was inclined to "enjoy" life.

While other children of William Clinton UPCHURCH I perhaps deserve more comment, we turn now to daughter Pattie Aline UPCHURCH I and the MORING family into which she married on 10 October 1878 in Raleigh. Her husband Franklin O'Kelly MORING, Sr., born 1 December 1845 in Chatham County, was the son of Alfred MORING who married 18 February 1835 Elizabeth M. O'KELLY at the residence of her father Franklin O'KELLY in Chatham County.

The MORING and O'KELLY families were prominent. As an example, the accomplishments of John Madison MORING, a brother of Franklin O'Kelly MORING, Sr., may be cited. John M. MORING was born and raised in the Williams Community of Chatham County. He was a leading lawyer, a Confederate Veteran, and was exceptionally popular as a trial lawyer in Chatham County. He served in the State Legislature for several terms in the 1880s and was House Speaker in 1879.

The story of Frank and Pattie Aline UPCHURCH MORING is best told by a document prepared by Mrs. Henry Howard STRICKLAND (nee Margaret Moring BRIGGS), a granddaughter of the couple.

MORING-UPCHURCH

"Frank O'Kelly MORING was born in Moringsville, a community named in honor of his family, prominent planters and merchants in that vicinity. He was educated in private preparatory schools, but the outbreak of the Civil War interrupted his studies. In 1865, then a boy of eighteen, he went into the Confederate Army as a private in Company I of the Sixth North Carolina Infantry. From that time until the close of the hostilities, he bore arms in defense of the South and did well every duty to which he was called.

Copyright© 2016, All Rights Reserved – Wake County Genealogical Society, Inc.

"Following the war, he took up farming, but later decided to go to Raleigh where he engaged in the wholesale grocery business, establishing the firm of POOLE and MORING. In 1891, he entered the cotton milling industry, helping establish Caraleigh Cotton Mills. In addition to serving as the secretary and treasure of this, he was also a director of both the Caraleigh Phosphate and Fertilizer Company and the Raleigh Banking and Trust Company.

"At one time, he served as an alderman of Raleigh and was a deacon in the Christian Church of which his maternal great grandfather, the Rev. James O'KELLY, was founder. In 1904, he was appointed by Governor Charles B. AYCOCK to represent the State of North Carolina at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition to be held in St. Louis beginning 30 April 1904.

"Pattie Aline UPCHURCH became the bride of Frank MORING just prior to her seventeenth birthday while he was nearly thirty-three. She was a beautiful young girl, and perhaps because of the difference in their ages, she was waited upon and treated as a queen all of her life. Nothing pleased her more than to be told she was more beautiful than any of her five daughters. Pattie was a loving and faithful wife and a devoted mother to her children. The greatest tragedy in her life was the death of her only son [Franklin O'Kelly MORING, Jr.] at age four when he became ill with diphtheria. But she was a strong lady and lived to enjoy the marriage of each of her five daughters (all in the proper order) as well as enjoy her ten grandchildren.

"The home of Pattie and Frank MORING was located at 127 N. Blount Street across from the old Meredith College and diagonally across the street from the Governor's Mansion. After Frank's death in 1920, Pattie sold her home and went to live her remaining years with her daughter, Mrs. C. B. WILLIAMS at 1405 Hillsboro Street."

Now we come to more specific comments on the individuals shown in the picture. Franklin O'Kelly MORING, Sr., was closely associated in several business ventures with his aforementioned brother-in-law William George UPCHURCH. Your editor was fortunate to have a visit on 20 November 1978 with Mrs. Thomas Needham PARK, Sr., nee Frances Moring WILLIAMS, in her home at 1405 Hillsboro Street in Raleigh. Frances is the daughter of Mrs. C. B. WILLIAMS, nee Margaret "Maggie" MORING WILLIAMS) and the granddaughter of Frank and Pattie Aline UPCHURCH MORING.

The house at 1405 Hillsboro Street is the one built in 1909 by her parents and in which she was raised. It is the house to which her grandmother Pattie Aline moved in her later years to live with her daughter Maggie. In the home in 1978 one still saw a distinctive painting of Frank and Pattie Aline. Frances remembered her grandfather Frank well. He was secretary-treasurer of the Caraleigh cotton Mills and worked there full time. She remembers his office. He had a serious asthma problem. Frank was young and did not have to go to the Civil War. He ran away and enlisted anyway. He was captured and spent most of his time in prison. Frances says she was born at her Grandmother Pattie Aline's house at 127 N. Blount Street. Pattie Aline had an active interest in the Daughters of the American Revolution and was a DAR member.

Charles Burgess WILLIAMS "C.B.", who married Maggie Williams MORING, was in professional agricultural work. He was head of the Department of Agronomy at North Carolina State College (now University) in the 1930s, and the new building constructed after World War II to house this large department was named Williams Hall in his honor. He was valedictorian and member of the 1893 graduating class at N.C. State, the first class to graduate. He was also captain of the football team.

Daisy Estille MORING married Ross Bergnan MacKINNON, and they lived in Canada. Their son, Angus MacKINNON, was a captain in the Canadian Tank Corps in World War II and was killed in the Battle of the Bulge.

Helen Leckie MORING married William Dun BRIGGS, and they were very active in the social and business life of Wake County. He belonged to many organizations. He was President of the Raleigh Cotton Mills where his father-in-law has been officer.

Minnie Florine MORING attended public school in Raleigh, then graduated from Horner School in Oxford, North Carolina. She taught at Wiley School in Raleigh. She married Horace V. DANIEL who became an executive with the Standard Oil Company. They moved to Norfolk, Virginia for 19 years and then to Wilmington, Delaware. When Horace passed away, Minnie moved to Charlottesville, Virginia until her death at 94. They had no children.

Pattie Aline MORING married Robert Shackelford PAGE who worked with the Smith-Courtney Company of Virginia. After marriage they lived with her parents until Bob was transferred to Norfolk, Va. Bob then held a prominent position with the Henry Walk Company. They had two children, Aline and Robert.

As a footnote to history, two of the above daughters, Minnie and Pattie, are used to illustrate a scene in the book Raleigh, City of Oaks, by James Vickers, 1982. On page 70, they appear in a street scene in front of the Governor's Mansion about 1900.

The above represents only a portion of the information now in hand about the UPCHURCH-MORING connection. No doubt many significant facts remain to be uncovered. From what is presented here and in other issues of the Upchurch Bulletin, we can take some pride in the significant role the UPCHURCH family has played for over 200-300 years on the Wake County scene.

We are grateful to all who have come forward with information about the UPCHURCH-MORING connection. Special thanks go to Mrs. H. H. STRICKLAND, Sr. (nee Margaret Moring BRIGGS), who in a 20 April 1991 letter to your editor provided the picture shown and much other information. The picture itself is a magnificent genealogical item and portrays an outstanding and attractive family.

Constable Bonds (1787, 1788, 1790, 1792)

Introduction by Diane L. Richard

In Volume 26 #3 is an article about Constable Bonds. That article includes a table summarizing constables, their districts, and the co-bondsman involved; signatures of all are included.

In this edition, we'll now further explore these records.

WCGS held a transcriber training program on 24 March 2016. Twenty attendees braved coming out on a Saturday morning to first hear a talk on transcribing and then, in teams, actually transcribe some provided documents, including Constables Bonds. These complete Constable Bonds give you further information on just what such a bond stated. As you can see, there is a fair amount of repeated text. They are similar and yet not identical.

Learn more about Colonial Constables via The Constable in Colonial North America (Alan D. Watson, North Carolina Historical Review. Volume 68, pages 1-16).

> The constable in North Carolina remained a shadowy figure, however, until 1715, when the office was defined by legislation that helped to comprise the revisal of the laws of the colony. That statute and another in 1741 invested constables with the "same Power and Authority" as that possessed by constables in England. In 1765 newly commissioned royal governor William Tryon, describing North Carolina to his superiors, wrote, "the Constables to every Purpose are of the same Nature as those in England." And James Davis's The Office and Authority of a Justice of Peace, published in the colony in 1774, drew principally upon English legal treatises and common law to describe the office of constable in North Carolina …
> … North Carolina legislation directed county magistrates during the first quarterly session of court each year to appoint as many constables as they deemed necessary. Upon the death or removal of a constable from his district, two justices (after 1741, a single magistrate) could appoint a replacement to serve until the meeting of the next court.

We can learn a bit more about Constables via Acts of the North Carolina General Assembly, 1786-1787, Volume 24, Pages 783-884[2] -- Chapter XIV. An Act to Amend an Act Passed at New Bern, in December, One Thousand Seven Hundred and Eighty-Five, Entitled, "An Act for Encreasing the Jurisdiction of the County Courts of Pleas and Quarter Sessions, and of the Justices of the Peace Out of Court, and Directing the Time of Holding Courts in This State."

VIII. And be it further Enacted, That the constables of this State shall be appointed as usual, who shall enter into bond payable to the Governor, with sufficient securities with the court, in the sum of two hundred and fifty pounds*, for the faithful discharge of his duty, and shall be entitled to the following and no other or greater fees for his services, to wit, for serving every warrant, four shillings, for every execution four shillings, for summoning every witness two shillings, for every attachment levied five shillings, for every bail bond one shilling.*

IX. And be it Enacted, That in all cases where any constable shall serve a warrant on any person for a demand of five pounds or upwards, he shall take bond with sufficient security for his appearance before some magistrate to have the same tried, and for a compliance with the judgment of such magistrate, to be given thereon in double the amount at least of the sum laid in the warrant; and in case any such person so bound, shall fail to comply with such judgment when given, the constable shall make an assignment of such bond to the party injured, who shall proceed thereon as in cases of bail bonds given on suits commenced in the courts of law.

X. And be it further Enacted by the authority aforesaid, That when it shall so happen that an execution in the hands of any constable in consequence of a judgment from any justice of the peace, and there shall be no personal property in his county whereon to levy such execution, then and in all such cases it shall be the duty of the constable to levy such execution on the real estate of the person against whom it issued, and make return of such his proceedings to the next ensuing county court, that an order of such court may direct the sheriff of the county to dispose of such real estate, or so much thereof as the court may direct according to law.

Though constables were often considered the lower tier of county officials, they were actually given fairly wide-ranging powers as identified by the courts and/or sheriff. Many court writs, warrants, summonses, etc., issued were handled by constables. Unlike today, constables were not professional law enforcement personnel. They were community members selected for this position who served on an annual basis (having to renew their bonds each year). Maybe one of your ancestors was a constable.

Gantt's All in One Plow
Is Rightly Named

It is strictly a first class Steel Beam Plow, with detachable turner. Can be changed in a moment's time from a turn plow to a cultivating plow, using the different size steel points, shovels, sweeps, scrapes, middle-breakers, sub-soilers, etc.

At a glance, you can see that the ALL IN ONE is the only plow that you will need to do any and all kinds of plowing for the entire year.

Call on merchants handling our plows, planters, guano distributors, grain drills, etc., or write Gantt Manufacturing Company, Macon, Ga.
